VANCOUVER — Youthful University of British Columbia today will bestow honorary degrees on Prime Minister Diefenbaker and national Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson at a convocation marking the university's 50th anniversary.

Also to be honored were CCF leader M. J. Coldwell and Premier Bennett of B.C. The prime minister, after travelling by plane from Saskatoon to Vancouver, was to address the Vancouver Canadian Club on "The State of Canada's Economy" and then go to the university convocation.

Mr. Diefenbaker will fly north Friday on a trip to the Yukon that will include speech-making and fishing. This year the Yukon marks the diamond jubilee of the 1897-98 Klondike gold rush.

Wednesday Mr. Diefenbaker made a one-day stopover in Saskatoon to visit his mother. The day was highlighted by an impromptu tour of Canada's first potash plant.

Mr. Pearson arrived by plane this morning and was welcomed by B.C. Liberal leader Arthur Laing.

He will address a university gathering today and the Vancouver Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday.

Wednesday UBC paid tribute to some of its elders in the field of higher education.

Officials and former officials of seven universities in the English-speaking world received honorary doctor of law degrees at a convocation.

Recipients were W. C. Costin, president of St. John's College, Oxford; Dr. Harold Dods, president emeritus of Princeton University; Sir

Hector Hetherington, vice-chancellor and principal of the University of Glasgow; Dr. D. W. Logan, principal of the University of London; Msgr. Irene Lussier, rector of the University of Montreal; T. H. Matthews, former registrar of McGill University, now executive secretary of the national conference of Canadian universities; and R. G. Sproul, former president of the University of California.

About 250 people witnessed the convocation ceremony in the university's war memorial gymnasium. Candidates were presented by Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of UBC, and received their doctorates from A. E. (Dal) Grauer, chancellor.

The convocation address was delivered by Msgr. Lussier, who said that as a Quebecer, "and moreover one of French origin," he was especially glad to receive an honorary degree "from the university of a province which, by its very name, is more British than the rest of Canada."

Msgr. Lussier added: "This fraternal stretching across the Rockies is a clear indication of this unity in diversity which makes Canada the great and good country that it is."

Msgr. Lussier's address was one in a series comprising a four-day symposium held in conjunction with the jubilee celebrations. The symposium is entitled "The scholar, the university and the world community."

The rector said: "We are living in an era of confusion. Religion and morality are losing ground. The hierarchy of values must be restored in the light of the ultimate end of

Sceptre Loses Again

NEWPORT, R.I. (CP) — Columbia today won the third America's Cup race by more than a mile from Sceptre.

Columbia, smashing through the heavy seas to leeward and gliding like an eel down wind, led the British challenger Sceptre by 500 yards at the half-way mark.

After the first trip over the windward — leeward 12-mile course, Columbia was leading by two minutes 31 seconds.

Columbia needed only one hour 38 minutes 6 seconds to make the first round trip as the southwest breeze freshened from 18 knots at the start to 22.

Just as the challenger started on the third leg, she lost her genoa jib. Her crew, wearing foul weather gear because of the heavy spray, rigged a substitute.

Sceptre had a five-foot lead and was on the windward side at the start but Columbia smashed through the heavy seas and soon was out in front.

Victoria Man Badly Injured

Istan Varro, 21, of Victoria, was reported in critical condition at West Coast General Hospital in Port Alberni today as a result of a car crash Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. on the Alberni summit.

His companion, A. T. Corvelo, whose address is not known, also is in hospital, but the extent of his injuries is not determined.

Police gave Varro's address as Box 818, Victoria.

According to RCMP in Alberni, Varro, a Canadian Pacific Railway employee, was driving a 1951 sedan westward toward the Alberni when it went out of control on a sharp curve and crashed into a rock bluff.

Police said the curve was on a downgrade, and that rain was falling at the time of the accident.

Varro has a brother, Lazo, a patient in Royal Jubilee Hospital. All other relatives are in Hungary.

Quarantine Lifted

MONTREAL (CP) — Doctors established today that an ailing passenger aboard the liner Ivernia was not suffering from smallpox and a quarantine of the ship was lifted, a spokesman for the Cunard Steamship Co. Ltd., said today.

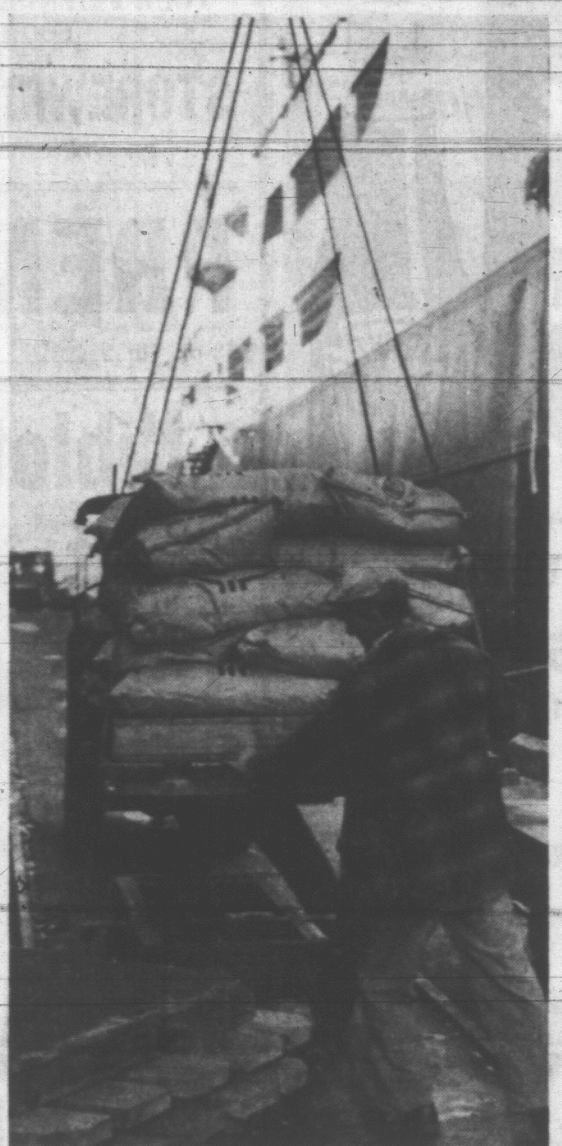

WOMEN PANIC-STRICKEN

Trucker's Daring Halts Runaway Car

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Cleo Roberts of Denver felt the brakes fail as the car started down a steep, eight-mile hill. She slammed the vehicle into low gear.

The car rounded a curve and then the clutch went out. It picked up speed, swinging around sharp bends in the highway.

Mrs. Gladys Neals of Wichita, Kan., owner of the car, sat tensely as Mrs. Roberts steered around a pickup truck at 75 miles an hour.

WINCHES WHINE AGAIN

Jump in Exports Seen by John D.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today confidently forecast a further boost to Canada's vital export trade resulting from an economic upturn in the United States.

The Canadian economy has been moving upwards ever since Spring "with the recovery taking place on an increasingly broad front," he said in a luncheon speech to the Vancouver Canadian Club.

Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a one-per-cent gain in exports during the first seven months of this year, compared with a year earlier.

"The outlook for Canadian exports for the remainder of 1958 and into 1959 appears favorable," he said.

Dealing with Canadian economy as a whole, the prime minister said that in a number of sectors the country "has regained either all or most of the ground it lost in the recession, while in other sectors new records are being chalked up."

He ticked off a series of figures: July industrial production three per cent above the low of last December "having regained about half the ground lost since the beginning of the recession." August employment of 6,025,000 close to the peak of a year earlier, personal income at record levels, and national production in the second quarter of the year running at a record annual rate of $32,250,000,000.

Kerr Murder Hearing May Run 3 Days

Preliminary hearing for Mrs. Alice Louella Kerr, charged in the shooting of her husband last month, entered its second day in Victoria RCMP court today. (See page 7 for earlier story.)

Of 19 Crown witnesses called by prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie, 10 were yet to be heard at noon, which may extend the hearing into Friday.

Mrs. Kerr is charged with the murder of Albert F. Kerr, 56, at their Hope Bay, North Pender Island, home on Aug. 10.

LEBANON WANTS MARINES OUT

BEIRUT (AP) — Rashid Karami, the new pro-Nasser premier of Lebanon, predicted today American troops would quit this country by the end of October.

Karami told reporters the question of the withdrawal of the remaining 9,500 U.S. soldiers and marines is a matter of "first importance" which would be discussed at his first cabinet meeting.

'Bill of Rights' Under Draft At Trade Meet

MONTREAL (CP) — A new "bill of rights" for Commonwealth trade, one that may strengthen the bargaining position of the weaker members, likely will emerge when the two-week trade conference ends Friday.

All through the day today delegates tussled with what was reported to be a lengthy draft communique setting out the aims of the 11-country partnership and its views on what fair trade is and how it should be achieved.

It likely will express Commonwealth agreement where possible and should not bar their doors to prevent the free flow of manufactured goods from low-income members. This would help the low earners achieve higher living standards.

REJECT DUMPING

It may suggest that such practices as undercutting of prices and dumping of goods in a competitor's markets be rejected.

And it may urge that where the Soviet and its satellites are either big producers or buyers of certain goods, an approach should be made to try to get them into world commodity agreements to guarantee markets and prevent changes in prices.

These actions may form the basis for a concerted Commonwealth move to free more of the barriers of trade. New attacks against restrictions may be carried out in the forums of the world or in the new Commonwealth Economic Consultative Council created Wednesday.

The Earl of Home, Britain's secretary for Commonwealth relations, announced after Wednesday's confidential talks that the conference agreed to the establishment of the new central agency, to be set up in London in a new building to be donated and to be known as "Commonwealth House."

JOCKEY FINED FOR QUITTING THREE RACES

Sandown Park stewards today cracked down on a jockey for failing to fulfil a riding engagement.

Jockey Ron Williams was fined $50 for taking himself off his mounts in the last three races at Sandown on Thursday. Earlier, stewards set jockey Elvin Arnold down for three days for not allowing sufficient racing room aboard his mount, Sundora Sue, on Sept. 19.

Fiscal Fight 'On' As Warning Defied

By JOHN MIKA
Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO — British Columbia's municipalities crossed their Rubicon today.

Shrugging off a sharp warning from the government, the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention unanimously voted to plunge into an all-out battle with the provincial government for a new fiscal arrangement that would enable them to stand on their own feet with help from no other government level.

Passed in toto was a special report formulating a new policy that calls on the provincial government to pay the full cost of operating schools and 50 per cent of the construction, all social welfare costs, all arterial road costs and all hospital construction costs.

Only serious debate on the report cropped up in a recommendation urging the provincial government to take over entire operating costs of elementary and secondary schools.

Chilliwack delegate Fred Wilson, a past president of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, said the recommendation went too far because it would destroy control of schools by school boards.

CHANGE DEFEATED

If the government paid the operating costs it would also take over complete administrative operations.

In view of "the nonsense shown by pedagogy" in progressive education, "I would hate to have professional educators in complete control of the schools," he said.

He proposed an amendment that the wording be changed to provide that the province pay for the "preponderance" of costs in school operation.

The amendment was defeated after North Vancouver Ald. Kenneth Ratcliff said school boards had little control now under the Public Schools Act.

TRUSTEES ESSENTIAL

The amendment would undermine an earlier warning that UBCM should not contradict the principles of its own report, he said.

Another delegate said he believed the province could not operate the schools without school boards in any event.

Following passage of the schools resolution, UBCM president, Reeve C. A. P. Murison of North Cowichan, read a telegram extending greetings to

'Stop Force' In Far East Lloyd Urges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(CP) — Britain today called on both Communist and Nationalist China to stop using force in the Formosa crisis immediately.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the United Nations General Assembly that all members of the world body should join in insisting that a peaceful solution to the crisis be worked out.

"We hope that this resort to force will be terminated and that the Chinese Nationalist authorities will also abstain from military activities," he said.

Lloyd also praised the conciliatory role of the U.S.

Turning to the Middle East, in a general summary of Britain's foreign policy, Lloyd said Britain is "anxious that the withdrawal of our troops should take place as speedily as possible," from Jordan.

U.S. BASE TO GUARD CITY

WASHINGTON (CP) — U.S. defence officials said today some major Canadian cities probably would get some protection from air attack from seven Bomarc missile launching sites the U.S. plans to build near the Canada-U.S. border.

One of the sites is Paine air force base near Everett, Wash., about 60 miles southwest of Victoria.

PRAYER, FAITH AND DRUGS PLAYED PART

Laughter Proves Potent Healer

LONDON (AP) — Today's wonder drug works miracles but old-fashioned prayer, faith and laughter are still potent healers.

This story of a young wife with three children seems to prove a point. It began last March when the wife telephoned her husband, who was in Holland on a business trip.

"I'm afraid I have some terrible news," she said. "The doctor says I have tuberculosis."

"But are they sure?" asked the staggered husband.

"Yes. The x-rays show two spots. One is a bad cavity. They want me to go to the hospital tomorrow."

And then over the telephone came her unsuppressible laughter.

"What's funny?"

"Nothing. But it's better than having to go tonight."

The husband hurried home. He helped his wife pack and ordered a taxi for the hospital.

Tearfully, she said goodbye to her children.

The taxi bumped along and to the husband's horror — began to overtake a funeral procession.

Not only did the taxi catch up with the procession, but at a red traffic light it drew abreast the hearse.

Mechanically, the wife looked into the hearse. Great gilded letters on a wreath beside the coffin fairly shouted:

"Mom—Gone but not forgotten."

"Poor Mom," said the wife crossing herself. Then she laughed.

"What's funny?"

"What's awful coincidence," she said.

During the next two weeks the wife was injected with the new miracle drugs of science. And as she fought against consumption, telegrams came to her bedside from friends in several parts of the world.

She was Russian-born and one message from Moscow said the Orthodox priest at St. Peter and Paul had lighted some candles and offered prayers for her recovery.

The wife improved but her doctors said an operation was necessary. They took out a rib and two sections of her right lung.

"Ah, well," she said with a smile, "I always did talk too much."

Three days and four blood transfusions later, the wife pointed feebly to a sign on her hospital door.

"Engaged," said the sign. "Honey," she said to her husband, "will you scratch out that word 'Engaged'?"

"Yes, but why?"

"Well, after 15 years married life, don't you think it should at least read, 'Married'?"

The eminent doctor beside her bed smiled. Surgeon to King George VI, he was one of the world's greatest authorities on tuberculosis.

Drugs and operations work miracles," he said. "So does laughter as that."

This week the wife was allowed to go outside the hospital grounds with her husband to have tea.

Her gaiety seemed to fill the sunlit garden — even when she said a quiet prayer of thanks.

I know the story's true because the wife's my wife.

$ Million for City Under UBCM Plan

(Special to The Times)
NANAIMO — Victoria would be about $1,375,000 better off if the provincial government accepted the finance plan suggested by the Union of B.C. Municipalities Wednesday.
Using this year's figures, Victoria would lose a $475,000 provincial grant, but would gain approximately $225,000 in taxes on provincial property, and would save $1,535,000 in school costs and $90,000 in health and welfare costs.

A comparable saving would be seen in other well-developed municipalities.
"Taxes could be cut by almost one-third, or the money utilized for improvements in services. Education cost to the province under the plan would be boosted $45,000,000 more this year if all operating costs were paid. But observers have noted that the government's direct debt will soon be eliminated and thus money used for debt payments could be re-allocated.

UBCM from the school trustees convention now underway in Kelowna.
"I thought I'd like to read it to you—after the motion," he said.
The irony prompted an outburst of laughter.

Wednesday, Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black warned the convention bluntly, before the report was presented, that it should stay out of politics if it wanted to retain its influence on government thinking. Today, he had "no comment" on the sweeping changes proposed. Reeve Murison, commenting today in obvious answer to Black's warning told delegates: "This report must be discussed at length here today because, if passed, we must be prepared to stand up to the artillery fire of the government."

FIRST SALVO
He said that since the federal government had agreed to spend two days in formal conference with Canadian municipal leaders, "then the provincial government should do the same with the UBCM on this report."

First salvo in the provincial-municipal battle shaping up over the report was loaded and aimed by the UBCM executive today.

Endorsing a suggestion by Victoria Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, Reeve Murison said copies of the report would be sent to all B.C. members of parliament and the legislature, and their comments on each recommendation would be requested to "make sure they read it."

Ald. Edgewood said the "excellent report is one of the best ever brought before the UBCM."

"Any government which takes this seriously—this completely new look at municipal-provincial financial responsibility—would be welcome."

"Any government which takes this on will be welcomed by the people of B.C. and, indeed, the people of Canada."

Reeve Murison echoed the suggestion that the report was regarded as more than just a B.C. affair. He said its recommendation was not directed at any particular government, but at the system of provincial-municipal relations, not only existing in B.C., but throughout Canada.

He indicated that the adoption of the report as policy was the "point of no return" on UBCM's march for a new deal. "Adoption of the report means that we should not bring in resolutions that contradict its principle an hour or a year later," he said.

MURISON 'AUTHOR'

Mayor Percy Scurren, chairman of this morning's session and a member of the nine-man committee that drew up the report, gave Reeve Murison credit as being the author of the recommendations.

He said Victoria city manager C. C. Wyatt and UBCM executive director T. R. B. Adams also assisted greatly in working out the recommendations, but Reeve Murison "really is the author of it."

He classified the report as being as important to the UBCM as the Cameron report was in changing the educational picture of the province.

Discussion, featuring a succession of warm compliments for Reeve Murison, lasted at least two hours.

life, which is for man to live a human life, the life of being endowed with spiritual powers."

The task of the educator was to train free men. But what is freedom?

Some modern philosophers, said Msgr. Lussier, view freedom as sheer spontaneity—"no guiding light, no precise aim: life for itself. But of what good is freedom if I am at a loss as to what to do with it?"

To many young people freedom meant nothing more than "to bear the weight of the moment, to be subjected to the impulse of the moment and progressively, to tighten the chain to one's own means."

Discussing the theme "can man change man," Msgr. Lussier said the time might come when reproduction of the human race will pose serious problems in psychology and pedagogy.

"Anxiety is mounting since we know the atomic influence on mutations and certain contemporary experiments performed on animals."

A look at the fields of biology and psychology would lead to the conclusion that "undoubtedly, man has the means to change man, in his body and in his mind," he said.

"But, morally speaking, can he do it? ... the psychologist, and more so the biologist, if they listen to the voice of their conscience, ask themselves with anxiety to what use will be put the unbiased techniques they are developing."

Mooney Hits Sale Of Athletic Park

NANAIMO — Ald. M. H. Mooney said Wednesday that announcement of a shopping centre deal involving Royal Athletic Park as a site for a $1,500,000 development was "a complete surprise" to him.
"As far as I'm concerned, we are not going to relinquish any park area at all," he said in an interview here where he is attending a municipal convention.
"We're going to need more parks within the next 15 years, let alone lose one."

Saanich Stores Consider Petition

A petition against Saanich shopping bylaw is being considered by a group of independent grocery and hardware merchants.

But they are waiting to see what happens over the shopping hours controversy in Victoria.

Members of this group believe that Saanich council disregarded the wishes of many merchants in removing time restraints from all shopping.

They said the small corner groceries are almost to a man in favor of the bylaw, but the major chain stores are awaiting developments and have not yet extended their store hours.

Some of the larger independent stores have extended their hours and some have not. Many are unhappy over the situation. Paul Wells, owner of Wells'

Payless Store and post office, 3534 Quadra, is one of several merchants who have obtained 100 names on a petition to keep the shopping hours bylaw as it was last spring.

"But the merchants have never been given the opportunity, as they have in Victoria, to say what they want. The Saanich council had its mind made up. They were tired of all the bickering and they threw the hours wide open," he said.

Trevor Evans of Quadra Hardware, 3205 Quadra, said his store will continue to close all day Monday, "and that is the general opinion of most hardware merchants in Saanich."

"This bylaw should never have been changed," he said. "No merchant was consulted."

Bartender Charged

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harry Bernard, a bartender, was accused Wednesday of trying to murder his estranged wife with a broken beer bottle.

The woman was found in a crashed car early Wednesday with face and body wounds which required 64 stitches. Police said she nearly died from loss of blood.

Bernard, 34, was to appear in court today on the attempted murder charge.

Quemoy Dips Into Reserves

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—The Communist artillery blockade of the Quemoy Islands has forced the Nationalist garrison there to dip into its war reserve stockpiles, dispatches from Quemoy reported today.

Supplies are getting through by ship and by plane but Gen. Kao-Yen-Fen, deputy commander at Quemoy, said the supplies stored for emergencies before the massive shelling started a month ago are being used for daily needs.

Seven Communist artillery positions pounded Big Quemoy with 1,182 shells in a nine-minute period at noon today—a rate of two per second, the defence ministry announced.

A communique did not say if a Nationalist convoy had arrived but that is often the case when there are short and heavy shellings.

Shortly after the saturation bombardment began, 24 Communist MiGs flew over the island but no air combat was reported.

No Push to Lift China Bomb Ban

TAIPEI (AP)—Sources here today said the Nationalists are not pressing the United States to assent to Nationalist bombing of the mainland gun positions.

Union Demands New Rail Talks On CP Firemen

MONTREAL (CP)—The firemen's union has demanded fresh talks with the Canadian Pacific Railway on the controversial diesel firemen issue.

The union demand—termed "irresponsible" by the CPR—would reopen a long-standing dispute that twice in 21 months provoked nation-wide strikes by firemen against the CPR.

The railway is expected to reject flatly the union proposal on the ground the issue was settled in an agreement that ended the firemen's second strike last May.

FORCED SETTLEMENT

W. E. Gamble, Canadian chief of the firemen's union, charged Wednesday that the May strike settlement was forced on the union by a government threat to legislate for the withdrawal of firemen on yard and freight diesels.

"As far as the union is concerned," said Mr. Gamble, "it made a settlement only to prevent the government from carrying out a threat to make the Kellock report law."

The Kellock report was handed down after the first firemen's strike in January, 1957. In a non-binding ruling, the report said firemen were not needed on yard and freight diesels. Mr. Gamble said both Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Labor Minister Starr told the union that parliament would be asked to endorse as law the Kellock report if a strike settlement was not quickly achieved. They participated in government-union-company talks in an unsuccessful bid to avert the May strike.

MACMILLAN meets labor

War Fears in Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan hurried back to London today from a vacation in Scotland to grapple with a mounting storm here over British policy in the Formosa crisis.

Macmillan scheduled an immediate cabinet meeting before going into a special conference with leaders of Britain's Trade Union Congress, grouping 8,000,000 British workers. The TUC leaders requested the meeting Wednesday, expressing fears that the Quemoy situation might develop into a world war.

The leaders—the TUC general council—said they believe it is the duty of the British government to do everything in its power to dissuade the United States from engaging in a war to defend Quemoy.

"It should be made abundantly clear that even if the United States becomes so involved Britain would not join," they added. Macmillan rejected a similar appeal by Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell 10 days ago.

INCO TO BUST PICKETS WITH HELICOPTER FERRY

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—The International Nickel Company of Canada apparently will take to the air to avoid picket line incidents in a strike that has paralyzed Canada's biggest mining operation.

The company was reported planning to use helicopters to ferry officials and supplies between its Sudbury district plants while non-union members work in the mines to maintain equipment during the walkout.

Nearly 13,000 workers struck Wednesday when contract talks collapsed. Another 1,000 members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) walked out at Inco's Port Colborne refinery.

Into a New Era

OVERNIGHT CANADA HAS made a revolutionary change in defence policy — a change necessitated by the vast steps being taken in scientific armament.

Aerial weapons today are in a state of flux: the day of the manned fighter and bomber plane is ending and the day of the unmanned, many-times-faster-than-sound missile is dawning.

Obviously under such conditions it is impossible to plan a country's defence without undergoing waste. Defence planes are obsolete before they can be put into full production. But a country cannot lie defenceless waiting for the ultimate weapon to be perfected—not in a world with all the tensions and crises abroad today.

Although Canada has sunk $400 millions into development of the Arrow interceptor, it would be false economy to continue production when this defence fighter is already out of date. New Russian bombers reputedly can match the Arrow in speed and altitude; intercontinental missiles now coming off the drawing boards cannot be stopped by any manned aircraft imaginable.

Even the Bomarc, a jet missile designed to blast invading bomber planes at supersonic speeds, cannot defend against the bomb missile. It, too, will be obsolete as soon as the ICBM is in production at no far distant date. The millions to be spent on the Bomarc weapon can therefore provide only temporary defence.

The even greater millions eventually to be spent on the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment system are expected to be a longer investment. This electronic method of detecting and counteracting attackers instantaneously may be employable against the bomb missile when an anti-bomb missile can be perfected.

Mr. Diefenbaker cannot be blamed for the confusing welter of problems and dilemmas which has confronted him.

The Arrow interceptor, developed at immense expense and representing one of the most efficient aircraft of its kind in the world, would have served well as a defence weapon in this intermediate phase. But, as the Prime Minister pointed out in making his policy announcement, missile development has come along at a much more rapid rate than was expected by anyone. For a short period of usefulness and in such relatively small numbers as would be required for Canadian defence, the Arrow does not have sufficient advantage over the present interceptor, the CF-100, to warrant its full production.

It becomes apparent from this that United States refusal to buy the Arrow has been an important factor in the Canadian Government's decision. Produced in larger quantities the aircraft might have cost less than the estimated $9 millions each.

The confusion of the times is demonstrated by the Prime Minister's decision to continue work on the Arrow for another six months, even though it is not likely to be needed after next March. One reason given is that several thousand highly skilled men will be thrown out of work when production is discontinued; another is that the state of international relations is not conducive to announcements that you are abandoning a major defence project.

A sudden worsening of the global situation could make continued Arrow production an immediate necessity. This production capacity must be kept alive until the alternative defence is nearer readiness.

It is significant that the important announcement was made by the Prime Minister rather than by Defence Minister Pearkes. Only a short time ago Mr. Pearkes had said the air force would continue with manned planes. Obviously an abrupt change of policy has been made, perhaps not without internal Cabinet upheavals.

Along with this change in defence goes a change in the role of the air force. The airman of the missile age will be a technician in a bombproof dugout manning a button instead of a joystick. But his role, while less glamorous, will be even more important.

Laying Aside the Strike

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA Power Commission and its employees' association have reached accord on a new formula covering employer-employee relations that might profitably be studied in the labor field.

Each agrees to accept binding arbitration on disputes not settled by less formal conciliation efforts. Each undertakes to avoid a work stoppage while settlement efforts are under way.

In other words the association foregoes the right to strike, the commission, foregoes the right to lock out.

The arrangement, it appears, is based on a will to co-operate between the two and to respect the public interest which could be gravely damaged if either caused a shutdown of service.

In addition, the commission makes provision for the payroll deduction of sums equivalent to dues to the association from all employees in the departments covered by the agreement. The association, on the other hand, accepts the principle that membership in the group is not compulsory, though deductions are made.

The significance of the no-strike clause seems to reflect an appreciation for the damage done not only to contesting parties but to the public when that weapon is called into play. Insofar as this painful instrument is laid aside, the agreement reflects a course approved by the public.

It may be argued by certain elements in labor that the employees' association has abandoned its armor and armament. That argument, however, is subject to question.

Unless an industry is destroyed by a strike, labor disputes are eventually settled. If they can be settled without the harm done to the interests directly involved and to the public by the application of a strike bludgeon, then injury is avoided to a substantial degree.

The employees' association of the Power Commission may not be trailblazing in the labor relations field, but at least the organization seems to have provided an example worthy of study and approval in the cause of harmony and co-operation between management and labor.

Guinea Says 'No'

IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS MEMBERS of the French family—the metropolitan area and those lands emerging from the old French colonial empire—will decide what their status will be.

That is the core of Sunday's constitutional referendum called by Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

First indications are that the result of the vote may add little strength to France. Guinea, an important section of France's black Africa territory, has declared its will for total independence and has urged other African communities to follow the same course.

Sekou Toure, the premier of Guinea and the unquestioned leader of the single-party area, has left no doubt on that score.

"We will vote 'no' to a community which is nothing but the old French Union re-baptized," he says. "We will vote 'no' to inequality. We will vote 'no' to irresponsibility. From September 29 we will be an independent country. We will take entire and total responsibility for our affairs. A new nation will be added to the list of free countries and, from now on, September 28 will be our national holiday."

M. Toure's statement carries with it an understanding of the fact that Guinea, in choosing independence, will forfeit French economic aid. That apparently does not dismay the premier—and for substantial reasons.

Guinea considers itself in a promising position. Extensive international investments have been made in that country. American, Canadian and French industrial and banking firms have put money into a number of projects and British, Italian and Swiss capital is interested in a gigantic dam on the Koukourou River.

The premier sees in these developments a guarantee for Guinea's future. His confidence is expressed in an invitation to the African masses—the political, labor, youth and student organizations—"to put all their effort into saving the future of Africa by a triumph of 'no' votes in all Africa under French domination."

The response to that invitation will be apparent in the near future.

High Style and Low Deeds

A NEWS ITEM REPORTS THAT the International Police organization is considering ways of apprehending pirates who steal the secrets of the big Paris style salons and sell them to competitors. Where a few inches in neckline or hemline may mean millions of dollars in sales, such information is naturally of vast commercial value. But the layman may wonder if theft isn't too good for some of the Paris styles, particularly those seen in recent months. Perhaps the culprits could be let off with just a frown and a wink—and the evidence thoroughly destroyed.

The New Model

FROM TAIPEI, FORMOSA By JOSEPH ALSOP

'Two Weeks at Most'

THE harsh moment of decision in the Taiwan Strait has moved another stage closer. Chiang Kai-shek's government has now formally warned the American government that they will have to use their air power to try to break the artillery blockade of Quemoy, unless another solution is found rather soon. This official warning was given last weekend by the Vice-President, Premier of Free China, Gen. Chen Cheng, to American Ambassador Everett Drumright. No time limit was officially set.

Alsop

In Chen Cheng's talk with Drumright, who has been urging the Chinese Nationalists to exercise "patience and restraint" at the behest of the Washington policy-makers.

Unofficially, however, Prime Minister Chen Cheng has stated that the immense grave order for air attacks on the Communist gun emplacements around Quemoy cannot be delayed for more than "two weeks at the most, and two weeks is an outside limit."

Deadline Near

In practice, if the Washington policy-makers choose to use all means of pressure and persuasion, this Chinese time limit unofficially set by Chen Cheng can probably be extended to three weeks or even four. Despite the blockade, the Quemoy garrison is certainly able to hold out until the end of October.

All the same, the warning given Drumright by Chen Cheng ought to be taken as pretty decisive proof that the problem of Quemoy blockade is not being solved, and cannot be solved by the present system of blockade-running under heavy artillery fire. On this point, the Vice-President-Prime Minister was specific and positive.

As of now, the Free Chinese Navy and Marines are getting three LSTs a night into Quemoy. Each LST carries 17 small amphibious landing craft. These LVTs are discharged off the beach under fire. They swim to the beach and scuttle across it through a heavy barrage of shells. They are unloaded, and they return to their mother LST the next night, always under fire, in exchange for another conveyer of sistercraft.

By this method, a little less than 150 tons of supplies a night are now reaching the Quemoy garrison of about 85,000 men and the civilian population of about 47,000 people. By providing more LSTs, this type of supply input may perhaps be "doubled; and random night landings of motorized junk may increase the total a little further.

Thus the defenders of Quemoy can be provided with enough to keep body and soul together, and to maintain the military units in some sort of fighting trim.

But the Quemoy defenders cannot be provided with enough to fight back, simply by blockade-running. The American military authorities here entirely agree with the Chinese leadership that there is no way of giving the Quemoy garrison real power to fight back, as long as the artillery blockade continues.

Time Limit

The Chinese further maintain that no troops on earth can be expected to hold out indefinitely under heavy fire, with no supplies except the small tonnages that can be brought across open beaches under fire, and with no means of fighting back. Once again, the Americans here unhappily agree.

These are the reasons why Prime Minister Chen Cheng maintained that improved blockade-running would not solve the problem of the artillery blockade of Quemoy.

The fact that he conveyed the warning to Ambassador Drumright is especially impressive, since he heads the group inside the Chinese government that has thus far persuaded the reluctant Chiang Kai-shek to heed the American pleas for "patience and restraint."

The other chief members of this group are the defence minister, Yu Ta Wei, the chairman of the chiefs of staff, Gen. Wang Hsu Ming, and the new foreign minister, S. K. Huang, who is important because of his influence in the ruling Kuomintang party.

Thus far, in other words, all the ablest, most respected and most disinterested members of the Chinese government have been on the side of "patience and restraint."

Prime Minister Chen Cheng's official warning and his unofficially indicated time limit must be taken to mean that these key men, who have doggedly argued in favor of following Washington's advice, will swing over to the other side in the fairly near future.

Symptoms of this prospective and vital change in the governmental balance have also been observed in other members of the group. There are plenty of other advisors of Chiang Kai-shek to urge immediate defiance of Washington's pleas to wait awhile. Their advice undoubtedly suits the President-Generalissimo's mood a good deal better than the advice he has received from men like Chen Cheng and Yu Ta Wei.

Finally, the Generalissimo's highly influential son, Gen. Chiang Kuo, has just returned from Quemoy with a report that the garrison's morale is excellent at present, but cannot be expected to hold up indefinitely if the Taipei government refuses to use all the means at its disposal to lift the blockade.

As indicated above, that means the Chinese desire to use all their air units. The Nationalists have only about 500 pilots, and their F-84s and F-86s are inferior to the Communist MIG-17s. But they are just bringing into operation a new squadron of F-100 fighters. And thus far the Nationalist pilots have proved very much better, man for man, than the Communist pilots. Although they are heavily outnumbered, the Nationalist airmen are openly chafing to do what they regard as their power job.

Attack Where?

It is very questionable, of course, whether air attacks on the strongly dug-in Communist gun positions would in fact break the artillery blockade of Quemoy. The very weak Communist supply lines into Fukien could more easily be broken by sustained air attack.

But this kind of sustained attack would probably require more planes and above all more pilots than the Nationalists possess.

In other words, even if they use all the means at their disposal, it is doubtful whether the Chinese Nationalists alone can break the artillery blockade. But their determination to make the attempt is plainly crystallizing, and the chances are very high that they will go ahead in the end unless they are offered some sort of satisfactory alternative by the American policy-makers.

There should be no delusions, either, about the American government's power to hold the Chinese back if worst comes to worst. The pressures that secured the evacuation of the Tachen Islands are most unlikely to succeed in the present situation. Chiang Kai-shek's government will take almost any chance to avoid losing the present battle.

Freethinkers

Charles Bradlaugh had to win several elections between 1880 and 1884 before he was permitted to make an affirmation instead of taking an oath in order to take his seat in the House of Commons. Later an Affirmation Bill was passed which relieved any other freethinker from having to take an oath.

It is interesting to note that Barbara Wootton—as she still wishes to be generally known—was recently elevated to the House of Lords, even although she is a humanist.

In spite of the proposed Canadian Bill of Rights I doubt if the Prime Minister will appoint any Canadian humanist to the Senate, for a few days ago it was reported that he said he would like to see a prayer room established in the Parliament Buildings and that God's will must be sought to a greater extent than ever before.

The Prime Minister may be the spokesman for the Conservative party, but if he aspires to be God's spokesman here in Canada he will most likely have a great deal of competition for this title.

30 Years Ago

Why all the furore regarding the present five-and-a-half-day week opening for merchants? This act has been on the books and worked satisfactorily for the past 30 years and only recently, due to the action of the press and two department stores, has the matter come to the fore.

A recent petition from 250 downtown merchants, requesting no change, is on file at the City Hall, while the six-day advocates cannot dig up any more than a dozen or two merchants who want any change.

Your paper of course, gives headlines to the six-day advocates and none to the five-and-a-half-day. The reason could be the extra dollars which will be spent in advertising.

Surely the opinion of the majority of merchants should carry some weight in a matter of this kind.

The law states no employee may work more than a five day week. If this were not so, many merchants would find the six day opening acceptable, but if we have laws setting hours of labor, which we quite agree with, surely it is not too much to ask for a law which gives the merchant the same hours of work accorded to clerks, labor, civil servants and municipal employees.

Onward to Rigor Mortis

The headlines of the Times of September 16 must give the rest of the Canadian public the idea that Victoria is a "race of shop-keepers."

It is quite possible that Victoria laws regarding sales on Sundays, may achieve what has been long looked for, that is, the "pangs of hunger" will be unlawful Wednesdays and Saturdays.

It is a pity that Victoria, so richly endowed with scenery, climate, etc., has to still flounder along in its post-Victorian outlook.

Onward—Victoria—to another hundred years of "rigor mortis!"

CPR Alternative

In Sept. 15 issue of the Times, on page 13, I noted an item re the gloomy situation facing Canadian Pacific Railway president, N. R. Crump, at the prospect of another crippling nationwide strike of 130,000 non-operating workers wanting a $38,000,000 wage boost—a situation untenable without a 20 per cent hike in freight rates.

Last January I recall an item in Maclean's Magazine intimating that some development was to be expected in the Canadian Pacific Railway's oil potentialities throughout the prairies this 1958 season "but under some subsidiary ownership."

While even Solomon was puzzled by some problems, I have been puzzled by the lack of development, either by the CPR or some other concern, when producing wells surrounding these areas could be reducing the oil deposits materially.

Considering the original land grant, plus exemption from taxation on its main line investments from coast to coast, I would suggest this railway system, especially at this critical period, be expected to use this invaluable resource for the general welfare of the people of this whole Dominion.

My experience as a farmer has been that when one commodity fell short of expectations some other resource took its place and I would suggest, if our federal government ignores this feature or attitude, they may regret it at another election.

Abolition the Hard Way

Portland Oregonian

THE argument that capital punishment should be abolished because of the possibility of the execution of an innocent person often meets with skepticism. A prevailing attitude is that it just couldn't happen.

Of course, it can and has happened. Dr. Ford Lewis, assistant minister of the First Unitarian Church of Portland, has correspondence revealing that just such tragic error prompted scrapping of the death penalty in at least two of the six states that have forsworn it.

"Many years ago (in excess of 60) the state of Maine did have a capital punishment statute which called for hanging," Maine's Gov. Edmund S. Muskie wrote Dr. Lewis. "In the course of applying this statute one of our inmates was hanged who afterwards was found to be entirely innocent. This unfortunate accident was the main reason for doing away with capital punishment in this state."

From the executive offices of another state, Rhode Island, came a similar account: "This state, many years ago, had capital punishment for first degree murder, but in one instance a man was convicted and executed and later it was found he was innocent. The law was then changed, and it now provides that capital punishment can only be imposed in the case of a person who commits a murder while serving a life sentence."

The latter provision is the same as would prevail in Oregon should the people approve abolition of capital punishment in the November election.

Response to Dr. Lewis' letters to the governors of the six states — Maine, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota and North Dakota — reflected general public satisfaction with absence of the death penalty. In point of fact, statistics confirm that the homicide rate in these states as a group is substantially lower than the average in states which take a life for a life.

There is no way of knowing how many innocent lives have been forfeited to the spirit of revenge embodied in the death penalty. The cases cited in Maine and Rhode Island are exceptions to the rule that an execution closes the case.

'A Lesson From Canada'

New York Times

WHEN U.S. Treasury Secretary Anderson declared a cash offering of $1 billion 27-year 3 1/2 per cent bonds in his June financing program, he was widely criticized on the grounds that it would interfere with the Federal Reserve's policy of monetary ease by "locking up" long-term funds that might otherwise be available to other borrowers.

This criticism was heard despite the painful lesson of 1957, when, despite boom conditions, the Treasury was unable to sell long bonds and found even shorter-term financing difficult. The climax was reached in August when Secretary Humphrey was compelled to pay 4.17 per cent on special Treasury bills, the shortest and most liquid form of government paper.

In the light of the short-sighted criticism of Mr. Anderson's effort to push debt maturities ahead it is interesting to consider the conversion operation just completed in Canada.

As a result of this forthright and imaginative undertaking, the Dominion has succeeded in converting more than $5.2 billion of its remaining outstanding 3 per cent Victory loans (about 85 per cent of the total) into new security issues with maturities ranging from 3 1/2 to 25 years, and bearing coupons ranging from 3 to 4 1/2 per cent.

The operation was the largest in the Dominion's history. The five Victory loans outstanding before this financing was announced by Finance Minister, Mr. Fleming, totaled $6.4 billion. They represented three-fifths of the country's outstanding direct market issues and two-fifths of the total national debt.

Few expected that all holders of the "Victories" would convert, and the fact that some 85 per cent have done so is regarded as highly satisfactory. This is particularly true in view of the fact that 36 per cent of the total converted were placed in the twenty-five-year bonds. All but one billion went into maturities ranging from seven years to twenty-five years.

Basic Reasons

It is particularly interesting to note the reasons adduced for this sweeping operation.

These include the following: (1) lengthening the maturity of the debt; (2) reducing the amount of refunding that will be required in the next few years; (3) taking account of the Government's need for money in the face of a record peacetime Government deficit; (4) recognizing the possibility that the resumption of inflationary pressures might make it difficult to refund the outstanding Victory issues at a later date; and (5) relieving the Bank of Canada of its natural apprehensions over the recent rapid rise in bank-held debt.

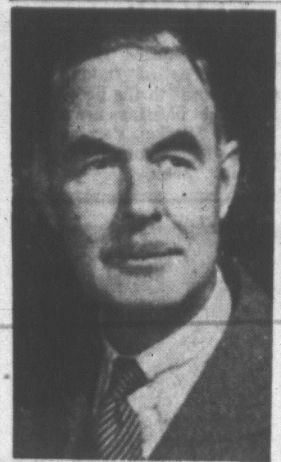

Would any reader of this newspaper like to try his hand at naming one other country of importance on the North American continent in which every one of these symptoms is now present, and in a much more spectacular form?

TRADITION UPSET? UBCM Chief May Carry On For Tax Fight

NANAIMO—The Union of B.C. Municipalities may shatter tradition today by re-electing president C. A. P. Murison to a second term.

The North Cowichan reeve is expected to be asked to remain president to fight for provincial acceptance of the UBCM's new tax-sharing plan for which he is greatly responsible.

Mr. Murison ends his one-year term as president this afternoon when ballots are cast for a new slate of officers. He officially hands over the job Friday at an installation ceremony.

By tradition this year's first vice-president, Mayor Carrie Jane Gray of Prince George, is in line for the chief executive's post.

But corridor conversation at convention headquarters Wednesday indicated there might be an upset.

Several delegates said they felt that Reeve Murison, guiding spirit of the special report calling for reorganization of fiscal relationships and the provincial government, should be given another year as leader to press the government to accept the UBCM recommendations.

Robert Strachan, provincial CCF leader, served notice Wednesday that he would bring the UBCM recommendations before the next session of the legislature.

The special report proposed that the provincial government undertake full payment of social welfare, new hospital construction, arterial highways running through city boundaries, school operating costs and 50 per cent of school construction costs.

"I think it is one of the most outstanding contributions to fiscal arrangements between municipalities and the provincial government," the opposition leader said here.

"The report freely admits it may take some time to implement the recommendations fully but I think the government should act speedily to consider and implement them."

"Certainly, I will make it my duty to bring these recommendations to the attention of the legislature at the next session."

B.C. Power Rate Hike 'Very Soon' Says Chief

Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO—B.C. Power Commission general manager H. L. Briggs announced Wednesday night that the public utility will increase electric rates "very soon."

The announcement was made at a BCPC dinner tendered the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention here.

"But I don't know when," he added. Nor did he indicate the possible size of the increase, expected to be a general rise in residential, commercial and industrial rates.

Last increase in BCPC rates was made in 1956 when 10 per cent was added to consumer's bills. A BCPC spokesman later said the province-owned utility would not have to obtain approval of an increase from the Public Utilities Commission.

BCPC is exempt from PUC regulations under the power act because, as a publicly-owned system, it operates on a non-profit basis.

Mr. Briggs was quick to emphasize that the majority of BCPC residential customers those in medium or large-sized cities.

BCPC has an average of 16 customers per mile of distribution line, compared with anywhere from 60 to 300 in a number of cities such as New Westminster, Winnipeg and Seattle, he said.

PUBLIC-OWNED PLAN

Earlier Wednesday, at the convention, it was suggested that BCPC service the entire province with electricity.

This would eliminate the privately-owned B.C. Electric Company as an electrical utility.

Mayor William Moore of Courtenay sounded the call for complete public ownership of electrical distribution after Mayor Frank Becker of Vernon said the BCPC should be given sole distribution rights throughout Vancouver Island.

Mayor Becker said this would enable the commission to subsidize rural electrification more easily because it could tap the lucrative Victoria market. He added that it was ridiculous for two electrical utilities to be operating side by side in such a small area as the Island. Mayor Moore said this did not go far enough because the "real plum" is the lower mainland market. He invited Mayor Becker to submit a resolution to the convention calling for complete BCPC coverage of the province, adding he would be happy to second it.

ACCIDENT RATE SOARS

NANAIMO—Accidents among B.C. municipal workers caused an estimated $10,000,000 loss in the five-year period from 1952 to 1956.

A Workmen's Compensation Board statement at the UBCM convention warned that a continuation of the bad record would bring higher assessments and special surcharges on the worst offenders.

JOBS CAN BE PLANNED NOW

Winter Projects Urged

NANAIMO—Delegates at the municipal convention were urged to plan public works programs now that could help relieve winter unemployment this year.

G. C. Blackburn, federal labor department information director, said that municipalities could help out the "do it now" campaign by scheduling maintenance and construction work for the slack season. Ordering of next year's supplies this winter also would help keep plants humming in various fields.

He urged municipal support of the "do it now" campaign because "local campaigns are the real firing line of this attack on seasonal unemployment."

Victoria Ald. Elmer McEwen said all three levels of government should advance their normal budget-setting time by six months so that money would be available during slack periods to carry on work.

Witnesses Say Wife Threatened Slain Man

The wife of a North Pender Island electrician pointed a rifle at her husband and threatened four times to shoot him during the weeks before he is alleged to have been murdered Aug. 10, a preliminary hearing was told Wednesday.

Two crown witnesses said they each heard on two separate occasions Mrs. Alice Louella Kerr, 54, threaten to shoot Albert Kerr, 56.

At still another time, one witness said he heard Mrs. Kerr say:

"You know, I love that man, but I could kill him. I would like to do away with him." She had no gun then, he said.

Mrs. Kerr is charged with murder and her preliminary hearing opened in Victoria RCMP court Wednesday morning. It was expected to continue through today.

Island residents found Kerr shot dead in the living room of his Hope Bay home the morning of Aug. 11 after Mrs. Kerr signalled to them as they drove by.

HOUSE VISITOR

Frank Leslie Johnston, who lives about a quarter mile from the Kerr home, said he was invited there by Mr. Kerr about three months ago.

Mrs. Kerr was inebriated and carried a jug of liquor, he said. Mr. Johnston said he drank a bottle of beer and sat talking with Mr. Kerr in the kitchen while Mrs. Kerr wandered about the house.

When the telephone rang, Mrs. Kerr answered it in another room, he said. Then, apparently angry, she came back to the kitchen and said something incoherent to her husband.

She spoke to him and "mumbled something, and I looked out the window to avoid her looks," the witness said.

"When I looked around, there was Mrs. Kerr with a rifle in her hands. She was about six feet away from Mr. Kerr. She mumbled something why he didn't send out letters."

He said the rifle was pointed somewhere between Kerr's head and midsection.

"You know what I could do to you; I could kill you," Johnston quoted Mrs. Kerr as saying.

He said Kerr said, "Don't get excited," reached over and took the rifle away from his wife.

On another occasion, Johnston said, he visited the Kerrs and Mrs. Kerr was wandering about under the influence of liquor as before.

When Kerr left a door open, Mrs. Kerr said, "You... why didn't you shut that door?" the witness said.

She again took up the rifle and he quoted her again: "You know what I could do to you."

Under cross-examination later by defence counsel Alan Macfarlane, Johnston said Kerr told him the rifle kept in the house was always loaded because of Mrs. Kerr's concern about prowlers.

In the eight or nine times Johnston saw Mrs. Kerr, she was always in various stages of intoxication, he told the hearing.

MADE OWN WINE

The witness said in cross-examination Kerr made his own wine from cherries and potatoes — "definitely" unpalatable as far as Johnston was concerned. He said he had never seen Kerr drunk.

Once when Kerr and his wife visited Johnston's house, the witness said, Kerr passed out in the basement and was found sleeping on the floor, but Johnston said he did not think this was due to liquor.

Mrs. Kerr held a glass of liquor in her hand when she entered the Johnston house, the witness said.

In earlier testimony, it was stated Mrs. Kerr showed Cons. Harold Bonner and deputy coroner H. S. Noakes a jug believed to contain wine.

It had been beside her bed the morning the death was discovered and on a table next to the bed was a glass half-filled with the same liquid.

At this time Mrs. Kerr was described as puffy-eyed like a person with a hangover.

Johnson said when he reprimanded the Kerrs for keeping a loaded gun around the house and for pointing it, Kerr replied, "Well, you know how she is," and let it go at that.

'NOT UPSET'

Kerr had not been upset by the experience, Johnston said.

Johnson told the hearing he had once fired a shot into the night at his own place when his dog started barking and growling, possibly at a prowler.

"Did you know Mr. Kerr was concerned about prowlers the same as you?" Mr. Macfarlane asked.

"Yes. He used to mention children annoying him at night, throwing stones at the house. Whether he meant they were prowlers, I don't know," Johnston replied.

Cons. Bonner said earlier Mrs. Kerr told him and the deputy coroner she thought a gun shot she heard the night of Aug. 10 was her husband shooting outside to scare off prowlers. She did not leave her bed to look for herself, he said.

Raymond Millard Daniels, 14, of Pender Island, worked for Kerr helping him wire a house for about two weeks during the summer. He gave testimony but was not under oath when he told the magistrate he did not know actually what it meant.

He told the hearing he offered Kerr a goat around April and Mrs. Kerr told her husband he should not have it. The witness said Mrs. Kerr went to get the rifle, shouldered it, pointed it at her husband and said:

"If you take that goat I'll shoot you."

He said, "I guess I can't take that goat," the witness quoted Kerr, and Mrs. Kerr took the rifle back into "the office," or dining room.

About four or five weeks later he said he was at the Kerr house and the husband and wife argued. "He asked her to leave him alone," Daniels said, "and she went out and got the rifle. She said, 'I'll shoot you, you...'"

The boy said Kerr twisted the gun from his wife's hands.

The night of Aug. 10, about 8:30 p.m., Daniels said he took a ladder he had borrowed from the electrician back to the Kerr house and although he knocked twice on the back door and heard voices inside he got no response. The house was in darkness, he said.

Deputy Coroner Noakes said Mrs. Kerr seemed to resent the presence of himself and Cons. Bonner at the house and made it clear they would not be permitted to touch anything or make a search.

He said she answered his questions and told him she had gone to bed about 10 p.m. Aug. 10. He said she told him her husband came into her room and rolled some cigarettes sitting on her bed, then went to his own room.

It was about 11 p.m. she heard the shot, she told the coroner, and thought he had taken the gun out to scare off boys in the habit of visiting the premises.

He told the hearing Mrs. Kerr said she heard gasping a little later, but again paid no attention because her husband had a bad cold and asthma.

The coroner said Mrs. Kerr told him she found Kerr lying on the front room floor about 7 a.m. Aug. 11, felt his pulse and knew he was dead.

He said he asked the woman if her husband had shot himself, what would be the reason. She replied, he said: "Well, you know, ill health, financial worries. You're a man, you know about such things."

Earlier the constable stated a number of unpaid bills and a letter asking payment Aug. 11 of an $800 bank loan were found in a desk at the Kerr house.

Nature on Screen Series Opened by Lecturer Friday

What promises to be one of the greatest series of nature films ever presented here opens Friday night at 8 in the Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium.

Under the general title "Audubon Screen Tours," the series, sponsored by the Victoria Natural History Society will open with "A Touch of the Tropics," presented in person by the well-known lecturer William H. Wagoner.

Mr. Wagoner and his wife, June, operate as a team. Much of their time is spent climbing mountains, exploring the undersea coral reefs, and back-packing into the remote wilderness travelling by truck, trailer, and on foot.

Subject matter of the Audubon Screen Tours covers a wide range, including birds, animals, marine life, insects and other wildlife in native surroundings—presented in dramatic form.

Audubon Screen Tours are open to the public at large and anyone interested in nature, wildlife and conservation should find them a rewarding experience.

INTEREST IN NATURE

Although presented as entertainment, these Audubon film-lectures may be termed cultural and educational events, with wide appeal for people of all ages. Audubon Screen Tours in the past 15 years have been remarkably successful in arousing and stimulating interest in nature and the out-of-doors throughout the continent.

W. H. Wagoner touch of tropics life Tours in Florida and publication of educational material on conservation.

Audubon wardens patrol upwards of a million acres of sanctuary lands to protect large concentrations of birds and other wildlife. Funds for this work are derived from bequests, gifts, and memberships. National Audubon Society headquarters is at Audubon House, 1130 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Information concerning admission to Friday and subsequent shows may be obtained from the Office of the Provincial Museum and the Dogwood Book Shop, 2224 Oak Bay Avenue.

We're going Steady!

"Every Friday after school we have a date at 'MY BANK'—that is my kid sister and I. There's a couple of nifty bikes in the sports store window—a girl's and a boy's—and we're both saving for our own. It won't be long, now..."

"As soon as school's out every Friday, we go straight to the B of M's special school-children's wicket, and deposit part of our allowance. No matter how little we put in, it all mounts up in no time. And there are lots of kids from our neighbourhood who come along, too."

"So if you kids have got your hearts set on something new... a bike, a doll, or a football outfit, make a date yourself this Friday afternoon at 'MY BANK'... time 4.30 to 6 p.m."

NOTE TO PARENTS:

Since 1952, when the B of M pioneered the Regina school-children's wicket—the first of its type in Canada—the number of youngsters saving at Canada's first bank has been growing steadily. The experiment has proved so successful that similar wickets have been installed at a number of B of M offices elsewhere.

Some of the youngsters are saving for more immediate objectives, such as bicycles, doll's carriages or football outfits... others have long-range plans—a college education, for instance. But all are learning something by saving at the B of M—the value of thrift and a sense of self-reliance through operating their own accounts.

If your youngsters haven't already got accounts of their own, why not send them to the B of M this Friday after school? Or come with them yourself. One dollar will open an account.

Jaycees Campaign For New Ice Sheet

Tentative start for a Junior Chamber of Commerce campaign to raise money by public subscription for building a new ice arena likely will be in mid-October, Jaycees agreed Wednesday.

The organization would put in $25,000 and attempt to raise the remainder.

Stewart Hagar, director of the ice surfacing committee, said the cost estimate had jumped to $148,000 from the original $111,000. Despite objection that this was too big a sum to handle, the committee decided to proceed as planned.

The committee hopes to meet with city council Oct. 9 to present an operating agreement.

The new ice surface would be built adjacent and behind the present Memorial Arena.

Five Blazes Keep Firemen on Hop

Five blazes in fewer than 12 hours kept Saanich firemen hopping from station to truck at Claremont Road and Patricia Bay Highway, the result of a battery short circuit.

No persons were injured in any of the fires, and damage was negligible.

Murder Threat on Judge

LONDON (AP) — A murder threat letter has been sent to Justice Cyril Salmon, the judge who sentenced nine white youths to four-year jail terms for attacking Negroes in Nottingham Hill.

The letter, purportedly signed by a group of former commandos, said "reprisals" would be taken against Salmon and that he would be shot dead.

Police are guarding Salmon. In handing out sentences to the white youths—all 17 to 20 years of age—the justice told them:

"Everyone, irrespective of the color of their skins, is entitled to walk through our streets in peace, with their heads erect and free from fear. That is a right which these courts will unflinchingly uphold."

EXCHANGE NAMES SKILFULLY PICKED

Victoria Daily Times-THURS., SEPT. 25, 1958 13

The Telephone Scrabble Game

Did you think that the new names in front of our telephone number — either Evergreen or Granite—were plucked from a hat, chosen because of some local characteristic or just thought up by some imaginative official in the B.C. Telephone Company office?

If you did you couldn't be more wrong and perhaps, as of now, you couldn't care less, but you will if you read on.

For some years now telephone engineers in Canada and the U.S. have been playing a gigantic and complex game of Scrabble and the end result, which will be arrived at in due course, will be that you will be able to lift your kitchen phone and dial dear cousin Agatha clear across the continent or down to the Mexican border.

No long-distance operator will be involved, but phone companies being smart, machinery will automatically record the call and you will be billed for it.

In the Scrabble word game, the phone engineers have followed their own intricate rules and they've come up with some dandies as — besides those already mentioned — Lakeview, Juniper, Walnut, Mutual, Hemlock, Webster, Ludlow and Atwater.

2-Out of 300

These names are selected for automatic exchanges from a master list of approximately 300, agreed upon by the major telephone systems of Canada and the United States. They are selected from this list to fit in with the rapidly developing international distance dialing plan, whereby a long distance operator will be able to ring any automatic telephone in Canada or the U.S. without the services of a second operator. This plan will be operative before the house-to-house continent-wide scheme is perfected.

The overall plan calls for Canada and the U.S. to be divided into approximately 100 numbering areas, each of which will be identified by a three-digit code. More populous regions require several code areas. New York state has seven; Texas five; Ohio, Illinois and Pennsylvania four each.

B.C. has one code area — designated as 604 and, under the scheme, a New York operator who wanted Evergreen 3-1234, for example, would dial 604-EV 3-1234.

The program would not be possible without a two-letter five-number plan. Without "2-5" numbering there just wouldn't be enough telephone numbers to go around. With "2-4" numbering (two letters plus four digits) only 60 dial combinations are available for exchange names in any one code area, while with "2-5" numbering, there are approximately 500 possible dial combinations for central office identification in any one area.

Casey Stengel's Half-Century In Baseball

By FRANK GRAHAM JR.

The grapefruit thrown from the plane at Wilbert Robinson was blamed as Charles Dillon "Casey" Stengel's plot. That was in 1916. This is 1958 and Casey is still being accused of many things, including a distinction of being the shrewdest manager in major league baseball.

This is Casey's story—the fifth of a series appearing daily in The Times, as written by New York columnist Frank Graham Jr.

The next couple of years were to bring important changes in Brooklyn, but Casey Stengel continued to establish himself as one of the most popular players who had ever worn a Dodger uniform. When the 1913 season opened, the team moved into a new home—Ebbets Field, named for the president of the Dodgers.

The following year Dahlen was dismissed as manager and replaced by Wilbert Robinson, a stout, tobacco-chewing veteran of the baseball wars. He was a fitting leader for the "daffiness boys" who would people Brooklyn teams in the years to come.

Having abandoned his studies at Western Dental College, Casey now threw himself into the task of developing his baseball skills, but devoted as he was to the game, the sport could never be a grinding routine for Stengel. There were good times and a thousand laughs.

And Casey had arrived in Brooklyn at a happy moment. The Dodgers' fortunes were on the rise and, though they had yet to win a pennant, they were beginning to flex their muscles. By 1916 Robbie and Ebbets had put together a sound ball club and there was the feeling in Brooklyn that "next year" had arrived.

It was a confident and determined band of players that reported to the Dodgers' camp at Daytona Beach in the spring. And, with Stengel around, there was sure to be some clowning, too.

One day Robbie and a group of his players were at the beach when Ruth Law, a pretty, young aviatrix, flew over in a plane with a sporting goods salesman who dropped a number of golf balls onto the sand as a publicity stunt. Uncle Robbie, an old Baltimore Oriole, was not impressed by the speed with which the golf balls came down, nor by the depth to which they buried themselves in the sand.

"If somebody threw a baseball out of a plane," he announced to his players, "I bet I could catch it."

The players snickered, but Robbie grew more enthusiastic. "Maybe not from as high as that plane was, but let somebody drop a ball to me from about 400 feet and I'll catch it."

"If the ball hit you on the head it would smash your skull," laughed one of the players. "I never got hit on the head with a baseball and I wouldn't get hit on the head with one even if it was dropped from a plane. You wait and see!"

And so the experiment was put into operation and a plan was duly hatched. Though Casey later denied it was his plot, neither Robbie nor anyone else took the denial seriously.

Grapefruit Hurtled Through Air

The following day a curious crowd gathered on the beach to watch this unprecedented spectacle. Robbie put on a catcher's mitt and waited as Miss Law circled overhead and then made her run on the beach. In the plane with her was the Dodger trainer, Frank Kelly, who had been designated bombardier for the flight.

He was armed, not with a baseball, but with a large, juicy Florida grapefruit.

The plane roared overhead, Robbie stretched out his arms and searched the sky for the ball. He saw something drop from the plane and began to circle under it. Bracing himself in the sand, he waited for the object as it grew in a second from the size of a pea to a great round yellow ball which blotted out the sky and, hurtling through his hands, seemed to explode in his face.

The impact of the grapefruit smashing into his chest knocked him flat on his back and he lay in the sand, covered with juice. His eyes closed and his fists clenched, he began to cry: "I'm killed! I'm covered with blood! I'm blind! Somebody help me!"

So deep was he in what he thought were his death throes that he didn't hear the roar of laughter around him. In a moment he opened his eyes, slowly looked about, finally summoned the courage to peek down at his chest and saw that he was covered, not with his own life's blood, but with the juice and pulp of a badly squashed grapefruit.

He leaped to his feet and the crowd scattered in the wake of some of the most blistering language ever to fill the Dixie air. He was mortified.

For a time Stengel's job seemed in jeopardy, but it was not Robbie's nature to hold a grudge for what even he had to admit was a pretty good joke. To the day when he died, though, he insisted that had it been a baseball he would have held it.

The events of the 1916 season helped Uncle Robbie to forget the grapefruit. The Dodgers got off in front, threw back their main contenders and then withstood a furious drive by the Giants—who won 26 straight games during September—to win the league pennant.

Casey batted .279 during the season, then, ever the opportunist, hit .364 in the World Series. His efforts there were not enough, however, and the Dodgers fell before the Red Sox in five games.

It is one of Casey's fondest memories that he played on Brooklyn's first pennant-winning team. Though he played only twice on the winning side in a World Series, he was to make up for that as a manager.

Friday: Casey gives 'em the bird.

Champions Trowned

VANCOUVER (CP)—St. Andrews beat Royals, 6-2, Wednesday night at Callister Park in the last scheduled Pacific Coast Summer Soccer League game of the season before less than 100 fans.

The game had no significance other than to fill out the schedule. Royals, the new Canadian champions, were without four of their stars—Buster Cairns, Bob Shenton, Ron Paton and Tony Crisp.

St. Andrews led at the half 2-1 and were coasting. Highlight of the game was a hat-trick by St. Andrews' winger Bill Moffat. Other scorers for St. Andrews were John Halley, Bruce Ashdown on a penalty shot, and F. Iph Graham.

Bill Logan and Alec Mackay scored for Royals.

MILWAUKEE RATED 'GOOD'

Yanks' Solid Bench Provides Defensive Edge

NEW YORK (UPI)—Manager Casey Stengel's stronger bench and the versatility of several of his players give the New York Yankees a defensive edge over the Milwaukee Braves for the World Series.

Baseball men generally agree there is not a defensive weakness in the Yankee lineup. Although the Braves' defense is rated "good," it does not measure up to the Yankees', especially at first base and in the two outfield posts where Bill Bruton and Wes Covington are playing on gimpy knees.

The one position where Milwaukee may be rated stronger is at shortstop, where the experienced Johnny Logan must second base and third

Kubek, but even there the difference is not too big.

It is on the bench and in the matter of versatility of certain key players where the Yankees maintain a decided advantage. And this is especially important to Stengel for his pinch-hitting strategy and lineup manipulations.

Gil McDougald, for example, has played second, third and short within recent seasons and was rated by rival managers as the best defensive player in the American League at each position. Elston Howard plays outfield and catcher; so did Yogi Berra this season; Kubek is at home in the infield and outfield; and Bobby Richardson can play

second base and third

The remarkable thing about it is that Stengel can make these fielding switches without hurting his defense the least bit.

After losing the 1957 world series, Stengel moaned that his scouting reports had underrated Covington and third baseman Ed Matthews defensively.

Privately, he still feels that Covington and Matthews played "over their head" last year in making brilliant fielding plays that hurt the Yankees. Ole Casey thinks: "Lemme see 'em do it again."

In evaluating the rival outfields, right fielders Hank Bauer and Hank Aaron are ranked about even. Mickey Mantle has a big edge, particularly in throwing, over Bill Bruton, who is not as fast as he was before an off-season knee operation. And in left, steady Norm Siebern can cover more ground in expansive Yankee Stadium than Covington, whose ailing knees must be operated upon after the season ends.

The Yankee supremacy is just as clear-cut in the infield. Conceding Logan over Kubek at short, New York must be favored at the three other starting positions—if Joe Adcock is the Milwaukee first baseman. Bill Skowron, although he won't make anyone forget Hal Chase, is far more agile than Adcock.

However, Frank Torre, the Braves' reserve first baseman, is the best "glove man" of the three.

At third, Andy Carey is steadier defensively than Matthews. Red Schoendienst at second is an "old pro" who knows how to play the hitters, but he has been hobbled by injuries this season and does not have as strong a throwing arm from deep positions as does McDougald.

From a statistical standpoint, the Yankees have proved more adept at making the double play, which Stengel deems so vital. At last week's end, the Yankees had executed 176 compared to 152 for Milwaukee. In overall fielding average, both teams were .980.

Behind the plate, there is not much to choose defensively among Berra, Howard and Del

Salmonbellies Keep Mann Cup in West

FOUR WINNERS

Our Boy Hal Holds Head Up

By HAL MALONE

They offered horses and coffee at Sidney Wednesday when the weather—or lack of it—indicated that an electric blanket would have been a better antibiotic against the danger of pneumonia.

It wasn't Arctic weather but as far as 3,000 patrons at Sandown were concerned, it was the next best thing. A cool breeze kept coat collars at mast. Occasional showers combined to prevent any of the customers from suffering sunstroke.

Among the warmer items was the Times billygoat editor. He selected four winners. Which is about three-and-a-half winners above par for him.

Three of his selections—Grey Cup, Mabe Tish and Steven C—were favorites which puts him somewhat below the genius class. But the fourth, a noble, handsome, elegant steed named Pamarco, stood home as a 7-1 shot for a $17.80 reward.

No alibis have to be created for Pamarco. Bred with a touch of class he has not always lived up to, Pamarco has always found a moist track ideal for his horns or whatever he has that makes him cruise more slowly on granite-like surfaces.

There were other bright spots along the afternoon. Three youthful reinsmen provided them. James Broomfield, Robert Taylor and Ron Carriere split six winners evenly.

Somworth looked as certain as death and taxes halfway down the stretch in the third. Then Broomfield declined to go inside, switched lanes and saw Low Step who followed a direct route, take the pot.

If you think Corn Stalk was a lucky winner, consider his time. He sped over six furlongs in 1:13.3, hardly loafing time on the soft strip. . . . Doc Darbyshire saddled two winners, Grey Cup and Steven C. . . . Mutual pay was $12.84 compared with $55.019 for the same day last year when eight races were run.

Another item of interest concerns the myth named Smoggy. Winner of his last two starts, he entered the starting gate with 128 pounds on his spine and odds of 8-5 indicating he could make it three in a row. The responsibility was just too much for him. So was Corn Stalk. He clung to Smoggy like dirty linen around the first turn. When they straightened out on the far side Smoggy was fresh out of kippapoo juice. Corn Stalk wasn't and easily resisted the final spring of Arioso and Silver Leaves.

Turf Talk . . . Leading rider at Exhibition Park, Jack Arterburn hasn't ridden a winner at Sandown for so long he's probably forgotten where the winner's circle is. . . . His ride aboard Kiskashot was something less than illustrious despite his constant hustle. . . .

Weekend schedule: SATURDAY 1:30 p.m.—Div. III: Eagles vs. Colwood. 2:30 p.m.—Div. IV: Britannia vs. ANAF Vets. 3:30 p.m.—Div. V and VI: Exhibition game at Sandown Park.

SUNDAY 2 p.m.—Div. I: Optimists vs. Eagles. 3:30 p.m.—Div. II: No Games Scheduled. 4:30 p.m.—Div. III: Exhibition game at Sandown Park.

MacKay Sparkles As Royal City Sweeps Series

NEW WESTMINSTER—New Westminster Salmonbellies made it four in a row for themselves and the Inter-City Senior Lacrosse League Wednesday night.

Coach Jake Proctor's smooth-functioning Salmonbellies returned the Mann Cup to New Westminster for the first time in 11 years Wednesday by drubbing Welland-Crowland Swiftons 14-6 for their fourth straight victory.

The sweep gave Salmonbellies the Canadian championship, a best-of-seven affair, and made it four wins for the West in their last four tries.

SHAMROCKS STARTED

Victoria Shamrocks started the West's surge by winning in 1955. Nanaimo captured the coveted mug in 1956 and Victoria triumphed again in 1957.

New Westminster, which had scored 20-7, 7-4 and 17-6 victories in the opening three games of the series, now has won the coveted trophy 12 times since 1910. The last time they took the Mann Cup was in 1943. New Westminster Adanacs won the trophy in 1934 and 1937.

Skip MacKay, borrowed by Salmonbellies from Nanaimo Timbermen for the series, was awarded the Mike Kelly Memorial Medal for the most valuable player to his club in the finals.

At no time in the four-game series did the Swiftons challenge the New Westminster side. The closest they came was the close-checking second game when they held New Westminster to seven goals.

GEORDIE STARRER

Victoria's Geordie Johnston played the second and third games for the easterners after regular goaltender Justin Howe was injured in the opening game of the series. Johnston was given credit for holding Salmonbellies to their lowest scoring performance in the series.

Forward Cliff Sepka scored five unassisted goals Wednesday night to lead New Westminster to victory. He also had an assist. MacKay added three assists and a goal and Ken Oddy scored two goals.

Swiftons' scorers were Ron Roy with a pair and Dave Hall, Jack Woods, Skip Teal and Nip O'Hearn with singles.

Throughout the series, goalie Stan Joseph, playing on his first championship team in 12 years of lacrosse activity, performed brilliantly for the westerners.

He held Swiftons to an average of slightly more than five goals a game. He stopped 20 shots Wednesday night, seven in the second period.

The final game was marred by several arguments between Swiftons players and referees Earl McDonald and Sid Greenwood.

O'Hearn collected 14 minutes in penalties during the game, one a 10-minute misconduct after he protested a slashing penalty too vigorously.

SKIPPER OF BLUENOSE FAVORS CANADIAN ENTRY

LUNenburg, N.S. (UPI)—Capt. Angus Walters, '77, retired skipper of the famous racing schooner Bluenose, says Canada would be a stronger challenger than the present British team now attempting to win the America's Cup races off Newport, R.I.

Canada could build a racing yacht light and fast enough to present a serious challenge, said Walters. "The lighter the boat, the faster the drift."

Bluenose held the fishermen's international race championships of the North Atlantic against United States challengers from 1923 to 1931.

The British sloop Sceptre, Capt. Walters added, was "built too staunch and the crew haven't enough experience." Wednesday's second victory by the American sloop Columbia was "an unfair and meaningless show . . . just no contest."

MORE WIND WANTED

'Never-Say-Die' British Attitude

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—The British, their hopes for the America's Cup all but swamped in the bubbling wake of the shark-swift United States defender Columbia, were whistling for wind in today's third race.

Trailing 2-0 in the best-of-seven series, they were banking on wind and more wind to get the British challenger Sceptre off its haunches.

"It's getting better but not enough yet," said Colin Ratsey, Sceptre's assistant helmsman, after Columbia sailed out of sight Wednesday to defeat the challenger by almost a mile and a half.

The British had said that winds up to 12 miles an hour were what they wanted for best results. They got it Wednesday.

But, said Ratsey after the race: "Sceptre's designed for a little more wind. We still haven't got up to the wind we expected to find here, 15 knots." The weatherman said the British would get that today. The trouble is that the faster the wind, the bigger Columbia's victory margin has been.

"I don't think we're conceding anything yet," Ratsey said. "We're not convinced Columbia is the better boat."

Olin Stephens, Columbia's designer and assistant helmsman, said he doubts Sceptre will go faster. Columbia has shown that Sceptre can't touch her in winds up to 12 miles an hour.

Today's race was a windward-leeward match, six miles away from it twice around. Wednesday's race, a resail of Monday's contest that was called when the yachts failed to finish within the time limit, was over a 24-mile triangular course.

Columbia skinned around it in three hours, 17 minutes and 43 seconds. Sceptre's time was 3:29.25.

Sceptre lost time when she had to luff around the first mark because her skipper, Lt. Cmdr. Graham Mann, had misjudged it, and she lost more because she just couldn't sail as close into the winds as Columbia's captain, Briggs Cunningham. But it was on the reaches where Columbia torpedoed her.

All clubs are urged to send a representative. The league last year consisted of clubs from Lodge Avenue, Duncan, Belmont, Sooke, Strawberry Vale, Brentwood, Saanichton, Cordova Bay, Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club, and St. John's.

The most highly-regarded receiver in the series dugouts will be 35-year-old Del Rice, who is not likely to see much action.

When it comes down to a comparison of bench strength, the Yankees' Howard, Jerry Lumpe, Richardson, Enos Slaughter and Marv Throneberry are given a big edge over Torre, Felix Mantilla, Andy Pafko, Casey Wise and Harry Hanebrink.

One more thing. Don't go for that silly talk about Stengel playing Berra at first base or Skowron at third in the series, as he's been doing in games following the pennant clinching.

When it comes to the series, the ole man doesn't fool around.

PRAIRIE RACING

Best Year Ever

WINNIPEG (CP)—The longest season ever on the Prairie racing circuit galloped to a standstill Wednesday night on the circuit's newest track, Assiniboia Downs.

Racing fans in Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon and Winnipeg saw 114 days of turf action, with 42 days of the total spent at the plush $3,000,000 Downs track.

Winnipeg punters, having the first opportunity to see their horses running since 1956, bet $3,111,766 during the 21-day fall meeting while the spring and fall meets combined for a total of $6,789,394.

There was no racing in Manitoba during 1957 as the former Winnipeg race track at Polo Park was sold in 1956 to become a shopping centre.

One of the most consistent horses on the circuit, Dr. Pat, made claim to a title it won in 1955—horse of the year. The five-year-old owned by L. H. Halverson of Scooby, Mont., won the last feature race, the $3,500 added Assiniboia Downs gold cup, for his third victory in six outings. "In the other three races he has been second twice and third."

Les Lear of Calgary wound up the season as the prairie's most successful trainer, having 51 winners, including a final day's double.

The circuit's champion jockey, Hugo Dittach, also went out in a blaze of glory with two winners.

Suburban Loop Meeting Oct. 4

Elections of officers and discussion of this season's schedule will be the main topics on the agenda at the annual meeting of the Saanich Suburban Basketball League.

The meeting, on Oct. 4, starts at 8 p.m. at Colwood Fire Hall. Voting power at the meeting will be confined to clubs in good standing with the league at the close of the 1957-58 season.

Cash and Luck Will Be Needed

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—The way Larry Gough puts it, a Western Interprovincial Football Union franchise for New Westminster for the 1960 season sounds almost plausible.

Gough, 37-year-old Vancouver electrical wholesale executive, says he has given a lot of thought to the idea of putting a WIFU club in this area and figures it can be done.

The stadium at Queen's Park with some 6,000 seats could be enlarged to 15,000 or better without "too much difficulty."

Aside from the stadium, Gough figures about $400,000 would be needed to get the team going. He has four other associates—so far unnamed—in the plan and says they can raise the $100,000 they estimate they'll need to lay on the line when their plan is presented to league officials. The rest of the $400,000 would be raised by selling $50 shares to the public.

If a stadium deal is worked out, Gough adds, an application to enter the WIFU will be made in November.

Alderman Stu Gifford said if Gough and cohorts "mean business" they will get our city council co-operation in enlarging Queen's Park Stadium, owned by the city of $5,000.

STUKE DUBIOUS
Annis Stukus, Vancouver Sun football editor, is a bit dubious about the plan. Stukus was instrumental in helping Edmonton Eskimos and B.C. Lions obtain WIFU franchises and also was the first coach of both clubs.

Here's what he had to say in his Wednesday column:

"... When you say it fast, it sounds sort of plausible. When you start looking at it closely, you begin to wonder just how strong a bite the football bug has to produce delusions like this."

"Maybe if New Westminster was 200 miles away (from Vancouver), there might be something to the dream. But the short kick (about 10 miles) between Empire Stadium and Queen's Park is too much like a stranger dipping into a till that is already starting to get a little short."

ONE PROBLEM

One of the problems would be to get a three-quarter vote in favor of the New Westminster franchise from the five teams already in the league—Lions, Eskimos, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders.

A bigger one would be the working out of territorial rights with the Lions for Canadian talent.

Harry Spring, president of the B.C. Lions, said he thinks the new club "is a fine idea if they can operate—but where are they going to get Canadian players? We've been in business five years and we're still short of them."

Gough said the team's backers have a plan to get Canadian players which will be announced later.

Meanwhile backers of the proposed club already took some action. They named their prospective team the New Westminster-Burnaby Bears; opened an office and named Gough as general manager.

KURYLO HELPS DRAKES AGAINST NAVY GRIDDER

Even a line as powerful as the one displayed by Oak Bay Drakes in the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League action needs a lift every now and then. Friday, they will get one.

When the defending B.C. champions line up against Navy, at Royal Athletic Park starting at 8:30 p.m., all-star tackle Joe Kurylo will return to action after being sidelined for two weeks with a knee injury.

In their last meeting, Drakes battered Navy by a 32-0 count, but Tar coach Padre Ivan Edwards is confident that his team has some surprises in store this time out.

Ailing Sandy Totes His Poke

TORONTO (CP)—Sandy Amaro checked in at Western Hospital Tuesday night with pneumonia—and a whole lot besides.

When hospital officials checked the Montreal Royals player's belongings on his admission after the night's international league playoff game with Toronto Maple Leafs, they found so much of the folding stuff in his pockets it took them 20 minutes to count it.

It added up to $4,851 in Canadian, United States and Cuban currency.

Sandy has a habit of lugging his wealth around with him. What's more, the trainer of the Montreal team says he's never bothered to use a locker.

Distress signals will be flitting atop Macdonald Park masts tonight when JBAA holds its final practices in preparation for their Victoria Rugby Union opener Saturday against Oak Bay Whites.

The team is still lacking front-line talent for the first of their two proposed teams in the new, ly-expanded, eight-team league.

Oak Bay Whites take on Oak Bay Reds in the season's first game tonight at Windsor Park, starting at 5:30 p.m.

Saturday, in addition to the Oak Bay-JBAA game at Macdonald Park, Oak Bay Reds will meet Victoria College at Windsor Park and HMCS Venture will play Royal Roads at Naden. All games start at 2:30 p.m.

Tonight's JBAA practice will start at 6:30 p.m., with all team positions open for competition.

Early Signing

CLEVELAND (AP)—With four more games yet to play in their 1958 season, Cleveland Indians Tuesday signed their winningest pitcher—Calvin Coolidge (Cal) McLish—to a 1959 contract. McLish, who has a 16-7 won-lost record, will get a "substantial" raise.

Lopez 'Home' Again After Long Struggle

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Memo to Al Lopez: Welcome home, coach.

The skipper of the Chicago White Sox, after spending 54 days of the season in the second division and a month in the cellar, has clinched second place again. In his 11 years as a manager, the last eight in the majors, Lopez never has finished lower than second.

A 4-3, 10-inning victory over Detroit Wednesday turned the trick for 1958.

The New York Yankees, who had just lost six straight since the day they clinched the pennant, ended their longest losing string in more than two years by beating Boston 7-5. Cleveland blew a chance to break a third-place tie with Boston and Detroit by losing 7-4 at Kansas City. Baltimore handed the Washington Senators their fifth shutout in six games, 2-0, on the three-hit pitching of Arnie Portocarrero.

RUNNELS KEEPS LEAD

Mickey Mantle hit his 42nd home run and Hank Bauer his 12th as the Yankees beat Tom Brewer, Boston's Pete Runnels (1-4-4) kept the AL batting lead, at 324, while teammate Ted Williams (2-3-3) passed Detroit's Harvey Kuenn for second place at 320.

With three games to play, Willie Mays has upped his lead over Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn to 2019 in their routing run for the National League batting title.

Mays was 2-for-3 for San Francisco as the Giants lost 10-3 to Chicago Cubs Wednesday, padding his average to .3458 in an 11-game surge in which he has batted at a .528

clip. Ashburn is batting .3439. Willie won his lone bat title in 1954 with a .345 average. Ashburn put away his only title in 1955, batting .338.

Los Angeles Dodgers defeated St. Louis 4-3 in the only other NL game scheduled.

Bob Lillis and Don Demeter homered for the Dodgers, who built a 4-0 lead while setting a National League season do-able play record with 195. That's one more than the record set in 1928 by Cincinnati and tied twice by the Redlegs.

Stan Musial was 2 for 1 for the Cards, gaining two points for a third-place .336 average in the bat race.

STRING OF TRAGEDIES ENDS

Violent Deaths Marred Life of Beauty Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—Tragedy hung over the life of Nedra Sanders. Nedra, Mrs. Albert Broccoli since 1951, died of cancer Tuesday in Doctors Hospital. She was 39. Many of those years she spent trying to erase the memories of violent deaths that followed her like a fateful shadow.

At 18, she was married for the first time, to William M. Evans of Chicago. It lasted three years.

She sued for divorce in 1941. The same year she won a beauty contest and became a sought-after cover girl.

Then Evans returned tragically to her life. Incensed when she refused to drop the divorce action, he slashed her with a knife and stabbed to death their two-year-old son, Douglas, and her mother. She obtained a divorce after Evans was sent to the Illinois state prison for life.

MARRIED SINGER
Nedra went to Hollywood. She married singer Buddy Clark and bore him a daughter, Penny, in 1942.

Clark was killed in a plane crash in 1949. He was the only casualty among the six passengers.

Less than a year later, Penny, then 7, ran across a Brentwood, Calif., street to meet a playmate. She was struck and killed by a car.

In 1951, Nedra married Albert Broccoli. They had two children, Anthony, 4, and Christina, 2. Broccoli enjoyed success as a movie producer in England and they lived in London.

But Nedra fell ill last May and returned here for treatment. It failed.

Hungary Faces Purge After November Vote

VIENNA (Reuters)—Hungarian Communist chief Janos Kadar is engaged in a fierce struggle to retain power, according to reports reaching here.

These reports said Hungary is likely to see a major purge as a result of the struggle. The purge probably will follow Hungarian elections expected late in November.

They will be the first elections since the Communists took over Hungary 10 years ago. They were originally scheduled in May, 1957, but were postponed in the political turmoil following the 1956 anti-Communist uprising.

Informed quarters in Budapest said little change is anticipated from the elections themselves, but reports reaching Vienna said a major house-cleaning will follow.

HULA HOOPS HARMFUL?

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dr. William O. Womer, president of the Chicago Chiropractic Society, warned against a new malady, "Waikiki Warp" which is sweeping the land.

"Waikiki Warp," naturally, is caused by undulating excessively inside a hula hoop, Womer said.

"A hula hooper exposes himself to contractions of the lumbar spine, or the victim could suffer a misalignment of one of the lumbar vertebrae," the chiropractor said.

Former Solicitor for City Dies

ARTHUR J. PATTON
... funeral Saturday

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Arthur J. Patton, 75, former Victoria city solicitor and long-time resident.

Mr. Patton died Wednesday at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He retired in 1956 after 11 years in the city employ and 35 years in private practice. Mr. Patton was advisor to councils during the post-war expansion period. Aldermen, city hall reporters, and the public were always welcomed to his office for explanation of the intricacies of municipal law.

He came to Victoria as a boy from Markham, Ont. He attended Victoria West and Victoria High Schools, then Toronto University. He began practice here in 1910 with the late Reeve W. E. Oliver of Oak Bay.

Mr. Patton represented logging, lumbering and sealing firms, playing a part in the industrial growth of the Island. He assisted the incorporation of Alberni.

He made a hobby of exploring old law, sharing in discovery of ancient statutes.

Weekend Editor Gets Top Post

MONTREAL (CP) — Craig Ballantyne of Montreal, editorial director of Weekend Magazine, has been elected president of the American Association of Sunday and Feature Editors. He is the first Canadian to hold the position.

showing Victoria to be a free port.

As a young man he played football and later was an amateur champion at billiards in the city. His clubs included the Pacific and Union Clubs. He was a past president of the latter. He was a member of Camosun Lodge, AF & AM.

The masonic order will take leading part in funeral services at 3.15 p.m. Saturday from Hayward's funeral home. The family has requested no flowers be sent.

Family survivors include the widow, Myra; a son, Fred, Port Alberni; a daughter, Mrs. Myra Frances Baker, Ottawa; two sisters, Mrs. Florence Mutrie, Mrs. Melissa Sears, both of Victoria; one brother, Fred, also of this city.

TOURS FAR NORTH—Canadian Defence Minister Pearkes left Ottawa by air Wednesday for his first Arctic inspection tour. Mr. Pearkes, accompanied by army and air force service chiefs and senior advisers will tour a mid-Canada warning line station at Hudson Bay and visit the U.S. air base at Thule, Greenland.

Tree Under Sidewalk Not Fault of City

Is a city corporation responsible for roots of trees growing under sidewalks?

This fine legal point was raised in the B.C. Appeal Court in Victoria Wednesday afternoon—and the judges ruled that city corporations cannot be held responsible for these vagrant tricks of nature.

They allowed an appeal by the city of Vancouver against a Supreme Court judgment by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson awarding $1,000 damages to Mrs. Lillian Douglas of 1005 Commercial Drive, Vancouver, for injuries sustained when she walked into a depression in the sidewalk on Trafalgar Street and overbalanced.

W. P. J. Beck, counsel for Vancouver city, argued that the depression in the sidewalk was caused by the root of a tree growing underneath and pushing up a neighboring section.

The damages were awarded against the city for failing to keep the sidewalk in a proper state of repair.

"I submit that no city corporation can be held responsible for a natural freak of this kind," Mr. Beck said.

Mr. Justice H. I. Bird, presiding over a panel of three judges, told the appeal court: "We are all agreed that this appeal must be allowed for short reasons which we shall give later."

First Snow In U.K.

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — Britain's first snow of the season fell Wednesday in Ross-shire, Scotland.

CAR KILLS BOY BOUND IN WIRE DURING GAME

CAP DE LA MADELEINE, Que. (CP) — Roger Grenier, 11, his arms bound during a game of cowboys and Indians, was struck and killed Tuesday night by a car that did not stop.

The lad's bruised body, the arms tied loosely with wire, was found near midnight in a gravel sidewalk in this town 85 miles northeast of Montreal.

Police are seeking his companions in the hope they will be able to lead them to the driver. They believe the youngsters either left the boy tied up or ran off in fright after he was struck.

VLC Urges 68 Affiliates To Back Chest Campaign

Victoria Labor Council has urged support of the Community Chest campaign, beginning letters to its 68 affiliated unions, representing 13,000 men, Monday.

Signed by council secretary A. W. Toone, the letters note that "by endorsing the campaign we have met the challenge of our responsibility but the final success depends upon the support each of us gives to the drive."

"We take the stand that this is not a matter of compulsion but that each should give to the best of his or her ability. However, we do accept indications of what is required, and this would be a day's pay from each worker."

The letter point out that "it is surprising that Victoria responds so generously to emergency appeals" but is the lowest giving city per capita in Canada, adding, "Certainly it is time such a statistic was changed."

Council president Robert Barrie will issue a Chest message to the membership half way through the $300,000 campaign.

Meanwhile, Chest president Hubert Wallace has bet Vancouver campaign chairman Walter Koerner $100 that Victoria will have collected a greater percentage of its target by Oct. 31 than will have Vancouver.

The loser of the wager will pay $100 from his personal pocketbook into the winner's Chest funds.

In other Chest news, officials have pointed out that the coffee and doughnuts for the recent navy Chest drive were paid for out of naval funds, and were not bought by the Chest. Similarly, cost of a meal that will follow the campaign-opening parade Monday will be borne by private individuals, not by the Chest.

A. W. TOONE
... a day's pay.

'Sympathetic Consideration' To Requests

Community Chest budget committee chairman Brian Tobin said today a list of sums alongside the 20 participating agencies in Tuesday's Times represented individual charities' requests and not necessarily the amount each charity would receive.

"How much each agency receives will be decided by the budget committee and will be based on the final total donated," Mr. Tobin said.

"A charity will not necessarily get what it has asked for, although each request will receive sympathetic consideration."

Jet Pilots Seek $45,000 Salaries

BOSTON (UPI)—An airlines spokesman said Wednesday that the airline pilots' union is demanding up to $45,000 a year for pilots flying jet aircraft. President Stuart G. Tipton of the Air Transport Association said collective bargaining in the air transport industry is out of balance as the airlines prepare to move into the jet age. On the one side, he said, is the individual airline, part of a fiercely competitive industry, tightly regulated by the federal government and with a primary responsibility to the public. On the other are the airline pilots who "belong to a labor organization, national in scope and subject to relatively few legal restraints."

Tipton said that last year salaries above $20,000 were not uncommon among pilots. "A few made more than $25,000, more than even the secretary of labor," he said.

VANCOUVER MAY TAKE OUR SAND FOR BEACHES

VANCOUVER (CP)—A suggestion that sand be imported from Honolulu or the west coast of Vancouver Island to get the city's polluted beaches fit for use is to be considered by a committee composed of community representatives.

Among other suggestions to be considered are the extending of the present English Bay sewer outfall farther to sea; treatment of the sewage outfall with chlorine and the building of $5,000,000 worth of swimming pools.

GIGANTIC SALE AT SAWMILL

70 Years of Business Gone Under Auctioneer's Hammer

By DON INGHAM
The muttered bids of hard-bitten mill men, machinery dealers, and scrap metal buyers marked the end of 70 years of business at Crowe Gonnason Co. Ltd. sawmill as auctioneer Art Roberts today opened a three-day sale of the mill equipment.

The seven-acre site, a timber stand, and mill with a replacement value of $500,000 will be sold. The company has gone into voluntary liquidation with O. E. Day, secretary-treasurer, and Alex Mason as co-liquidators.

There were 32 prospective buyers on hand today as the auction started with the sale of the heaviest equipment.

"The sale will follow the route taken by a log through the mill," Mr. Roberts said, "starting with the boom winch and boom chains, and working through the mill and planer mill."

Bidding was light on most of the log handling machinery, with the bulk of it being taken for scrap. Expensive live roller installations seemed destined for the cutting torch, and saw grinding machinery went to J. G. McDonald, Vancouver machinery dealer.

BID REJECTED
The saw carriage complete with networks, with a replacement value of $21,000, is still unsold. Mr. Roberts and his assistant, Larry Wood, rejected a bid of $100.

Bidding went on through the lunch hour.

Scheduled for sale Friday are millwork machines, electric motors, office equipment, and the rolling stock, such as forklift loaders, carriers and trucks. Saturday will see the sale of portable power tools, paint, hardware and all lumber.

BIGGEST SALE
Mr. Roberts said this auction is the biggest single sale ever undertaken by his firm of Maynard and Sons.

"We have a staff of 12 on the sale," he said. "Mr. Wood and I knew nothing about sawmills or mill machinery six weeks ago, but we've been boning up steadily since then."

Buyers today came from the city, Sidney, Jordan River, Cobble Hill, Chemainus and Alberni on Vancouver Island, and from Edmonton, Calgary, Williams Lake, Burnaby, Vancouver, Crescent Beach and Cascade.

WINNING TEAM
Team of Jean Dunbar, 1007 Joan Crescent, and Seven-Up is eligible to compete in several events in "Horse of the Year" show in Vancouver Friday and Saturday. The two had highly successful year in Island shows, and dominated early September meet in Duncan. (Times photo.)

Riders From City Enter Big Show
A strong contingent of Victoria riders will go to Vancouver Friday to take part in the first annual "Horse of the Year" show to be held Friday night and all-day Saturday at the Pacific National Exhibition indoor ring.

The show, sponsored by the Canadian Horse Show Association with proceeds to go to the Children's Hospital in Vancouver, is being held for the first time this year, but is expected to become an annual event.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross is expected to attend. Entries in the show will be restricted to horses and riders that placed first, second, third, or fourth in a show held under CHSA auspices, and they can compete only in the divisions in which they qualified.

Victorians taking part, their mounts, and divisions, are as follows:
Miss Jo-Anne Aubel, Stepping Fast, hack; Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, Dala Shan, hack; C. C. Carpenter, Sky Bingo, open jumping; Mrs. V. Donaldson, Hindu Punch, hack; Miss Jean Dunbar, Seven-Up, equitation, hunting conformation, CHSA junior division, and others; Mrs. William Dunbar, Quardeyna, Arabian pleasure horse and bridle path hack under 15.2 (Miss Jean Dunbar up); Pat Donaldson, Sky Bingo, equitation; Judy Reside, Stepping Fast, equitation; Eileen Whiting, mount not chosen, equitation; David Barnes of Crofton, Hindu Punch, equitation.

Representatives from Victoria Western Horsemen's Club will be Ronald Trickett and Buck-shie, Bob Owens and Tacoma, Dink Echols, and Bob Grimshaw and Babe, who will compete in the working stock horse division.

'Sub-Hunters' Docking Here Early Friday
The RCN Pacific Command today announced arrival times of ships returning to Esquimalt from joint U.S.-Canadian anti-submarine warfare exercises off Cape Flattery.

The exercises conclude today. Returning at 8 a.m. Friday will be the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, comprising HMC ships Crescent, Fraser, Margaree, Skeena, Cayuga and Athabaskan.

Due at 10 a.m. is the Fourth Escort Squadron, made up of HMC ships Stettler, Antigonish, New Glasgow, New Waterford and Jonquiere.

Arriving at about the same time will be four United States submarines which have been acting as targets in this exercise, the Caiman, Rock, Charr and Razorback.

Last to arrive, at 2 p.m., will be the destroyer escort USS Hanna.

All ships will berth at HMC Dockyard and HMCS Naden.

Shore leave will be granted by most ships from 12 noon on. The visitors will be here until Monday morning.

TRAFFIC FINES
In city police court today: Ronald Jonsson, 1044 Redfern, $35 for careless driving. Alexander Gillis, 1887 Carnarvon, $35 and licence suspended for careless driving.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK
The television show "Close-Up," which seems to me the most interesting thing done in Canada, turned up last night at a new time, with an extended hour-long format which will undoubtedly broaden the scope of the program of opinion.

In spite of some technical fluffs, and some really interesting cross-chatter in a mass interview, the show rolled along nicely, its power attaining a certain lunatic finality with Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon challenging President Eisenhower—"here and now, on this (Canadian) program"—to call back Congress to determine whether the U.S. had "a scintilla of legal right to defend Quemoy."

(Morse doesn't think they have.)

The high point of the show, from the single standpoint of audience interest, was a interview conducted by Bob Anderson with a 19-year-old drug addict.

This girl, framed effectively in silhouette opposite Anderson, spoke the strange language of the addicts in tones of infinite sadness, soft, hopeless, beaten and drowsy—she had had "a fix," she said, half an hour before being interviewed.

She had started on heroin after the effect of "goof balls" and "reefers" did nothing for her. She was intrigued, she confessed, by the reactions of other drug addicts. The effect "could not be described."

"Try," said Anderson.

"Well, you know," she replied, "Sorta Cloud-nine." (Whatever that means.)

How did she get the $24 a day necessary for her four shots a day?

"I'm a prostitute," she murmured.

And what were her chances of straightening up?

"It takes guts, and will-power," she replied. "Lots of guts—and I lack will-power. I was always easily led."

As the interview closed, a lonely flute segued into the background, until the whole sordid story took on the dreamlike, unreal quality of a bitter child's tale.

And this (some of us thought, in discussing it afterwards) was both seductive and dangerous. In conducting such interviews, is "Close-Up" really doing a public service?

The girl, for all her teen-aged despair and futility, made the initial mystery of dope, the attempt to describe the reaction, sound like some exciting adventure. The impact of this talk on restless and impressionable young minds may have been exactly the opposite to that intended.

In other words: to be completely honest journalists, the "Close-Up" people might have concluded the interview with a filmed minute or two on an addict trying to "kick the habit." It wouldn't be pretty, but it would show that the easy slide into this habit can lead only to degradation and unspeakable torture.

Founder of Kiwanis Village Honorary President for Life
Founder nad past-president of the Kiwanis Village Society Ed Mallek was unanimously raised to honorary president for life at the annual meeting Wednesday night.

He was succeeded in office by fellow Kiwanis member Reg Harris, who paid tribute to the work done by his predecessor.

Dr. W. M. Hackney was elected honorary director.

Active directors elected for three-year terms were: Harvey Bailey, Sam Hill, Ron Loch-head and Forrest Shaw.

W. R. Gibson, Glenn Hope and D. H. Lawson have two further years to serve and Charles Craig, Ralph Mathews, John McLeod and Sam Swetnam one year each.

Land surveys, ordered by the provincial works department, will begin "very soon" on the site of the proposed new Victoria Courthouse, Works Minister W. N. Chant said today.

The site is opposite Christ Church Cathedral on Quadra at Burdett. Work is to be carried out by a Victoria surveying firm and will begin "as soon as the surveyors are free," the minister said.

A mining conference to be attended by representatives of labor, industry and the University of British Columbia has been called for Oct. 23 and 24 by Mines Minister W. K. Kiernan.

About 60 persons have been invited to the talks, which will be held at the Legislative Buildings.

The driver of one of two cars that paced each other at 60 miles an hour for several blocks along Hillside Avenue Sept. 12 was fined $35 and had his driving license suspended in police court today.

Precious China Plates Safe in Plastic Cases

By PENNY SAVER

Any new idea to make packing, carting or storing of household items easier, is always welcome. That's why I'm going to tell you about a dandy plastic case in which your good china plates can be safely encased. Softly padded and quilt-like, the zippered case keeps the most delicate ware from chipping when being handled. Cases come in dinner-plate size and hold as many as eight pieces at a time. You could buy several at this low price of $1.98 each.

Compression of a foamy texture between two surfaces, makes this spongy stripping excellent for shutting out draughts around doors and windows. This waterproof stripping can hardly be seen and, best of all, there is no nailing or tacking involved in putting it up—because it sticks! It stretches, too, and it sells at 49 cents a package.

You'd feel like a new person if there was a sparkling new suit or dress hanging in your cupboard. Really not hard to accomplish, either. You simply choose a pattern, buy the yardage goods then get out your needle and thread. I've an idea you'll go for this crease-resistant material that is soft in texture yet strong and warm enough to wear all during the fall and winter months.

Go on! I dare you to splurge and purchase this autumn-toned fabric priced at $1.69 a yard.

Rolling your own? I mean are you making your own cigarettes? If so, I've found a dandy roller for the pocket or purse. So simple to use, this roller is selling at 25 cents.

SERVING DEMI-TASSE

When demi-tasse is served after dinner, does the hostess usher her guests from the table into the living room, or does she go directly to the kitchen to bring in the equipment, thus leaving her guests to fare for themselves for the time being? Is it proper to pour the coffee in the kitchen, or must it be poured in the living room? Must the coffee be served black, or are sugar and cream provided for those who wish them?

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

I think that it is a little more hospitable for a hostess to move toward the living room with her guests, then excuse herself right away to go to the kitchen. The coffee-pouring in the kitchen is optional, but most hostesses do it in the presence of their guests when they can ask each one, "Do you prefer sugar? Cream?" Pouring coffee can be delightful if there is the equipment and available table to hold the tray. Guests usually take their demi-tasse black, even though they prefer cream for regular coffee. However, a thoughtful hostess will be prepared.

DEAR ABBY...

'Uncover' the Evidence!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 44 and I am 43. We have been married 23 years and have a son in the service and one in high school. My husband has run around for years, but I always covered up for him because of the children. I have spent some very lonely years, Abby. I kept praying that he would change, but he hasn't. Now I am considering divorce while I am still young enough to find a little happiness for myself elsewhere. I hate to do this but there seems to be no other solution because my children will soon be leaving us to make lives of their own and I don't want to be left alone. Can you blame me?

VERY UNDECIDED.

DEAR UNDECIDED: "Covering up" never solved anything. The only way to save your marriage is to give your troubles a good airing. It's never too late.

DEAR ABBY: Last year my husband, his brother, his brother's wife and I went on a fishing trip. Now I know how to fish and I love it, but my sister-in-law just sat around and looked bored and put make-up on. She gripped about the heat, she gripped about the mosquitoes and ruined the trip for everybody. This year my husband said the four of us should go on another fishing trip and I said nothing doing, not with her! He then said if his brother's wife doesn't go, it would look bad if I went, so he and the brother would go alone. Should I consent to the foursome again or should I let the two boys go alone?

FISHERMAN'S WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: Don't be a sucker. Go!

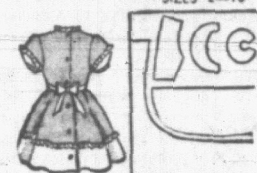

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the woman who didn't want her boyfriend to grow a beard: Now exactly what's wrong with a man growing a beard? I am sure that God did not put hair on the faces of men so that Gillette could sponsor boxing matches. And you advise her, "If the beard scratches—scratch him!" Men lost their beards at the same time women were given the right to vote and permitted to drive automobiles (you can do neither intelligently) but I'll bet that since you women stick together you will never print this. K.S.E.

DEAR K.S.E.: You lose!

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law makes me sick. What do you think of a woman who laughs like a hyena at a joke her husband has told in her presence at least fifty times?

DEAR FED: She is either one heck of a wife or it's one heck of a joke!

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who I have always liked and all of a sudden I noticed how cool and aloof she got when we met. I asked her what was wrong and she told me another

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In any discussion concerning whether or not supplementary vitamins should be added to a well-balanced diet, we must consider vitamin losses in the foods we eat. This is a much bigger factor than many people realize.

For instance, turnip greens, if kept at 40 degrees for 24 hours, are not drastically affected, but if they are kept at room temperature for that length of time, they show a great vitamin loss. Cabbage, even when kept in the refrigerator for a week, loses half of its vitamin C content.

Of course, vitamin C is the most readily lost of any vitamin. For this reason cabbage should not be kept too long. When green beans are kept in a refrigerator for 48 hours, they lose 60 per cent of their vitamin C content.

In order to save as many vitamins as possible, you should not cut or peel vegetables or fruits far ahead of the time you are going to eat them. It also has been demonstrated that berries, vegetables and fruits lose more of their vitamins when the outer skin has been broken by bruising.

Many women like to know about vitamin loss in frozen foods. The freezing itself does not decrease vitamin potency. However, some methods of blanching do. Peas which are scalded in steam and then allowed to cool in water lose more than those which are frozen immediately after scalding.

However, as a whole, frozen vegetables hold up very well in vitamin content.

The average housewife cannot make a career of this and has no control over the factors of production, storage and shipping.

She can keep vegetables and fruits in the refrigerator rather than at room temperature, and it would seem wise to shop oftener and for shorter periods so that there will not be so long a time between the garden and the dinner table.

If you wish to have my leaflet "Vitamins and Diet" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 38 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Native Meal Eaten With Fingers; Bathe In Mud Hut

By JEAN ANDERSON

"After three weeks of settling into our spanking new house located in a tiny township in Central Africa, I was more than ready for a little change, so when Fred suggested the family might like to go along with him on his next tour in the bush, I jumped at the opportunity.

"On Monday, at 3 o'clock, Fred, Doug (3), Steven (1½), a young African evangelist, five African passengers with all their belongings (including chickens) and all our camping equipment were packed into the Land Rover for the 55-mile trip to Chisomo.

"The road cut through the bush, twisted its way down into the Luangwa Valley. At one point it dropped 1,200 feet in two miles. As the afternoon wore on the air remained hot and heavy and the distant hills were obscured by smoke from the bush fires.

"At six o'clock we reached Chisomo—hot, dusty and tired—and were given a warm welcome by the two school teachers and their 80 pupils. Many of them had never seen a white (or European as we are called here) child and before long Doug and Steve were joining in their fun. "We were shown to the tiny school office, a room about seven feet wide and 15 feet long. There we set up our camp beds, and just as we got settled in, there was a timid knock and an 'od' at the door. Our supper had arrived.

"There was a huge omelette, a bowl of inshima (a sort of thick dry porridge made from finely-ground maize); a relish to eat with this made from

A Swim In River; Crocodiles Near

"Early next morning we said our farewells at Chisomo and drove on a further four miles into the bush to Andeleya's Village — our final destination. After I had aged five years because of the road we had to use, the village came into view. Some 12 huts were arranged around a dusty square which had in its centre a rest hut. The rest hut is little more than a circular roof of thatch supported by wooden poles. It is used mainly by the men as a place to chat or drink beer and as a meeting house on various occasions.

"By about 10 a.m. the tent was up and we were down. The whole village felt like an oven and tiny flies buzzed around trying to settle in our eyes and ears. After a lunch of rice with peanuts in it, we clambered down to the river, about a quarter of a mile away and all had a dip—keeping a sharp eye out for crocodiles.

"Before we had reached the village again we were as hot as ever and soon we were, hotter as the heat mounted until the sun finally sank behind the hills

Track Star Takes Bride In Up-Island Ceremony

Of wide interest in athletic circles is the marriage of Norine, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Irving of Campbell River, to Terrence (Terry) Tobacco, well-known track and field star and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tobacco of Cumberland.

Campbell River United Church was setting for the marriage with Rev. E. S. Fleming officiating.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She was wearing a traditionally styled gown of white satin. Fashioned along Empire lines, the dress had a scooped neckline dipping to a V at the back. Sleeves were small cap style and the bodice was appliqued with Italian lace. The full graceful skirt, in train, was trimmed with matching lace on the wide side panels. A cap of lace, embroidered with seed pearls held her veil of illusion net. She carried a bouquet of roses. Only cauliflower, a large bowl of corn kernels peeled and boiled and to top it all off, a huge plate of plantains (wild bananas). "Doug and Steve were hungry as two bears, and with the added attraction of being able to use fingers, they waded right into their first African meal. "After supper we all had a bath in one of the little mud huts. These are little mud huts about six feet square with thatched roofs. Inside there is a bamboo platform raised about 18 inches from the ground and on this is set a large basin of water. No bath ever felt more welcome after driving through heat and dust.

at about six o'clock and the flies too, disappeared.

"In the evening a few of the villagers gathered and began to tell us some folk stories in the vernacular. Each time they finished one they would say—"Did you understand?" And we would have to answer—"A little," for Chilaia is still largely a mystery to us.

"Wednesday morning dawned cloudy—oh blessed relief! And Fred and Ba Chinkumba (the evangelist) were able to have a service in a near-by village in some degree of comfort while I sat and chatted with the women. After lunch of inshima and delicious boiled chicken, we began to pack our belongings and Fred held another service in the rest house for about 16 people.

"Goodbyes were said and by 4.30 in the afternoon we were back at Chisomo for another service. Midnight found us back in our new house—sound asleep—with the 55 miles once again between us and Chisomo.

"Interesting? Yes! But next time the boys and I will go in the cool season."

Wears Sheath Of Blue Lace

A sheath dress of pale blue lace over taffeta was chosen by Margaret Jean Carmichael for the quiet ceremony performed by Rev. A. Calder in Centennial United Church at which she became the bride of Richard Joseph Dukowski.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carmichael, Topaz Avenue, and was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was fashioned with scoop neckline and three-quarter sleeves, and a sash of blue satin at the waist. With it she wore a blue floral half-hat, and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and stephanotis.

Jean Elizabeth Carmichael wore a turquoise blue taffeta dress with white accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

M. Maesen was best man for the groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dukowski. John Carmichael proposed the toast to his niece at a reception in Business and Professional Women's Club following the ceremony.

Later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Calgary, en route to their new home in Regina. For travelling the bride wore a dress-maker suit in wedgewood blue shade with black accessories and pale blue chiffon hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Brief Visit

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. (Bill) Larinde are in Victoria on a short visit, staying with Mr. Larinde's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Larinde, at their home on Gorge Road West. Mr. Larinde, for the past five years assistant principal violinist with the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra, has just accepted a position with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. The young couple, who were married a year ago are now on their way to the California city to make their home. Mrs. L. W. Larinde is the former Miss Wendy Elizabeth Howard-Leicester of London, England.

Present Gifts

Mrs. D. Campbell entertained recently in her Menzies Street home with a shower to honor Miss Diane Murrell. Gifts, arranged in a decorated box were presented by the junior bridesmaids-to-be, Miss Dorothy Murrell and Miss Cathy Ward. A corsage of pink carnations was given to the honor guest and her mother, Mrs. G. Murrell received bebe chrysanthemums. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. E. Ramsdale. Others present were Mrs. L. Elliott, Mrs. I. Clarkon, Mrs. J. Strong, Mrs. Larson, Mrs. A. Ward, Mrs. E. Douglas Mrs. B. Kay and Mrs. F. Campbell.

Old Time Fashions Add Centennial Touch at Tea

Frills and furbelows of by-gone days were worn Wednesday afternoon by members of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary for a centenary bridge tea, held in the Nurses' Home.

Bridge tables were set up in the spacious auditorium and tea was served in the lounge which was gay with arrangements of colorful autumn flowers.

Receiving guests was the auxiliary president, Mrs. J. A. McLellan, assisted by Mrs. Blair Reid, dressed in gingham crinoline and matching sunbonnet; the convener of the affair, Mrs. W. J. Cochrane, and her assistants, Mrs. E. Michaux and Mrs. C. Barlow.

Also acting as hostesses were Mrs. T. Atkinson and Mrs. F. G. Stuart.

An arrangement of roses flanked by tall green candles in silver holders, centred the head tea tables where Mrs. H. A. Humber, Mrs. L. Hamilton, Mrs. M. Morning, Mrs. J. A. Cooney, Mrs. J. W. Bell, Mrs. J. T. O'Brien, Mrs. E. Dixon and Mrs. E. Belton presided. Serviteurs were Mrs. P. Semenchuk, Mrs.

KILLER LION OWNER'S TRIAL OPENS TODAY

NANAIMO—Trial of zoo-keeper Paul Hertel on a charge of criminal negligence was scheduled to open in Fall Assize Court here today before Mr. Justice A. M. Manson.

The charge arose out of the escape of a lioness from Hertel's Wellington zoo. After being at large for several hours it killed eight-year-old Maureen Vanstone, May 3, then was shot by hunters called in to search for the animal.

War Dead Honored By IOOE Members

NANAIMO—Thirty-three standard bearers marched to the Cenotaph here Monday to pay tribute to heroes of two world wars and to comrades in the Korean war.

They carried the Union Jack aloft for the Imperial Daughters of the Empire, assembled here for the semi-annual meeting. Mrs. E. O. Duvernay of Vancouver, provincial president, placed the wreath. She was assisted by Mrs. de Sartais of New Westminster.

PTA Donations To Swell Church Harvest Service

JORDAN RIVER—A harvest service will be observed at Jordan River Anglican Church Sunday with a special assist from the PTA of Waterloo School, near Cassidy.

The PTA each spring distributes seeds to youngsters, who plant them, then exhibit their produce at a small school fair in the fall. Last year the school decided to donate the vegetables to the church, and will do the same this year with a much larger display.

James Hunter, member of the church, said residents will bring preserves to the service, since Jordan River is not a gardening area that produces fresh fruit and vegetables.

All goods donated for the service will be taken by church members to the B.C. Protestant Orphanage the same day. Minister of the church here is Rev. David L. Green.

EMERGENCY CALLS

Your directory has spaces on the first white page where Emergency numbers can be written. Be sure to write in these numbers for quick easy reference.

DIRECTORY

Your new Centennial Directory, listing all new Victoria and District telephone numbers, should now be in your home. If you have not yet received your new directory, notify our Business Office—phone 4-8011 (after Sunday, Sept. 28, call EVergreen 4-8011). The new directory becomes effective September 28. Please do not use your old directory after that date.

DIALING

If you should happen to dial a number and forget to dial the prefix name letters you will hear the "no-such-number" tone—a continuous tone, rising and falling in pitch. If you hear this tone, please consult your new directory and call again. Remember—you must dial TWO LETTERS and FIVE FIGURES.

WHY THIS NUMBER CHANGE IS NECESSARY

The change to what is called "2-5" numbering—two letters followed by five figures—will bring Victoria and District telephone numbers in line with similar changes now being effected in British Columbia and all parts of the North American continent. Its purpose is to establish a uniform pattern of telephone numbering which will eventually allow most subscribers to dial almost any phone in North America without requiring the services of an operator.

Progressive improvement in service is the Telephone Company's constant aim. The introduction of "2-5" numbering to Victoria and District is an important part of our objective.

Abstract Artist Paints Margaret

LONDON (UPI) — Painter Bill Crozier looked at his abstract portrait of Princess Margaret—the canvas streaked with vermilion, black and green and punctuated with painted-over pieces of paper—and proclaimed "It's meant to be complimentary."

But most of the crowd looking at the portrait by the 25-year-old Scot on exhibition today at London's Drain Gallery had trouble telling which was the bottom and which the top.

Crozier said of the portrait: "I wanted to try to portray someone who was completely unfulfilled."

Waxing lyrical, he added, "It is supposed to show the Princess as she really is—a very lovable, nice, ordinary person, the type that everyone likes if she had been born in different circumstances."

He said his painting showed "the sort of girl who would have got married, settled down and had a family and collected Elvis Presley records."

Teachers' Salary Negotiation Board Recommended by Trustees

KELOWNA (CP)—A resolution asking for establishment of a salary negotiation board for teachers was passed by a strong majority Wednesday at the 54th annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees Association.

The resolution, introduced by Windermere delegates, suggested that the board, made up of representatives of the trustees association, the provincial government and the B.C. Teachers' Federation, should set up a basic scale with zonal adjustments and negotiate agreements in individual school districts.

Also endorsed was a Quesnel proposal that since the new Public Schools Act placed boards "in an even more untenable position than formerly," the act should be amended to permit boards to bargain with teachers through a central committee.

If this failed the resolution directed the trustees association to "take the irrevocable stand that the government establish teacher salaries."

Keen interest was shown in Cranbrook's "bonus plan" in which trustees and teachers are working together to rate teachers on the results they obtain and to reward them accordingly.

Despite forecasts that the plan would not work and that teachers would not apply for positions under this plan, the Cranbrook board reported more applications by qualified teachers than in any previous year. Basis of the plan, it was explained, was determination "to pay good teachers good salaries."

TRUSTEES PICK KITIMAT MAN

KELOWNA (CP)—P. M. Hopkins of Kitimat was elected president of the B.C. School Trustees' Association at its annual convention Wednesday. He succeeds Lorne C. Aggett of Vancouver.

Mrs. E. W. Ricker of Nanaimo was elected first vice-president.

SURVIVOR ON FLOATING TURNTABLE

Fishboat Sinks, 5 Lost

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—The 40-foot fishing vessel Maxine M. Sank Wednesday in Clarence Strait, 30 miles southwest of here. One man drowned and four others were missing and feared lost.

The sole survivor, Howard Williams, son of the owner of the Maxine M., was found alive on the floating turntable of the boat. He was picked up by the fishing vessel Homer.

With Williams on the turntable was the body of his father, James Williams, 65.

Missing and feared drowned were crewmen Alfred Dundas, Billy Dundas, Fred Fawcett and Henry Brendible, all of Metlakatla.

The turntable was found about 25 miles north of the point the Maxine M. rammed rocks and sank on Point McCarthy, Gravina Island.

The lone survivor was brought to hospital here suffering shock and exposure.

The coast guard said the search for the four missing men would be resumed at daybreak today.

NOT WITH YORE HEAD!

RED, THAT'S UNREASONABLE...

I KNOW THIS SEEMS LIKE A GRADE 8 THRILLER, BUT I HAD NO CHOICE. I'VE MUTINIED AGAINST SAMSON ALEXANDER AND HE'S OUT TO GET ME!

I'M SURE YOU'RE JUST UPSET. WHY WOULD HE HARM HIS NUMBER ONE BOX OFFICE ATTRACTION?

HA! ALEXANDER CAN'T STAND OPPOSITION - HE'LL TEAR ME DOWN AS FAST AS HE BUILT ME UP!

THE PARTY MR. FLAGG WAS WAITING FOR JUST ARRIVED...

GOOD! I'LL CALL MR. FLINT!

OVERLANDERS DESCENDING THE NORTH THOMPSON BY RAFT, 1862

Most of the new settlers and miners who flocked into British Columbia after 1858 came by ship, usually around "the Horn" or up from San Francisco, but in 1862 parties of men and women, whom we have called the Overlanders, made their way to British Columbia from eastern Canada across the prairies and mountains.

These people endured starvation and terrible hardships coming through the difficult passes of the Rockies. Several parties made their way through Yellow Head Pass and then came down the swift-flowing North Thompson River on rafts. Some were drowned in the canyons when their rafts capsized.

One group reached Fort Kamloops in this way on Oct. 14, 1862, and on the following day one of this party, Mrs. Schubert, gave birth to the first white girl to be born in the interior of British Columbia.

Some of the outstanding pioneers of Kamloops were Overlanders: Joe Mara, Wm. Fortune and George Tunstall.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Stan Christy, aged 12, of Utica, N.Y., for his question:

How Does the Heart Beat?

The heart is a small four-roomed house. The outer walls are made of thick, strong muscle and inside there is a centre wall. This is a partition which divides the house into two separate parts, each part having a small upstairs room and a larger downstairs room. Even in a grown man, the heart is smaller than a grapefruit. For such a little house, it has a huge stack of chimneys. They are the blood vessels which lead the blood to and from the heart.

In a way, the heart really is a house. It is the powerhouse of the body. Its job is to keep the blood stream circulating. The blood carries oxygen and dissolved foods to the body cells and gathers up waste materials. Some of the body cells perish in a few moments without fresh oxygen. So the heart must keep the blood flowing around in a circuit day and night. The circuit is a wonderful network of blood vessels leading to each part of the body and back to the heart.

The blood leading from the heart is loaded with oxygen to deliver to the body cells. These blood vessels are the arteries. The blood leading back to the heart are veins. They have delivered their oxygen and picked up a load of waste carbon dioxide.

The heart is divided into two separate parts for a very good reason. The used blood in the veins must not mix with the fresh blood in the arteries. It must be sent to the lungs to be purified before it is sent on a trip through the arteries. The right side of the heart deals with the used blood—receives the fresh blood from the lungs and pumps it on its way around the body.

Trapdoors Let Blood Pass

The small upstairs rooms are called auricles. The larger downstairs rooms are the ventricles. The heart works as a pump, relaxing and contracting. The upstairs tenses first, then the downstairs and the whole heart relaxes for a fraction of a second. There is a system of doors, which open and shut to help the heart pump.

As the heart relaxes, two big veins pour used blood into the right auricle and one big artery carries fresh blood into the left auricle. Then the auricles begin to contract. This forces open a valve trapdoor in the floor of each auricle. The blood is pushed down into the ventricles with a "lub" sound.

Now the ventricles contract. The blood is pumped up with a sudden "dub" sound. On the right side it forces open a valve door leading to a huge vein

Peacetime Atom Damage, Injury Now Insurable

Canadians can now insure themselves against damage or injury caused by the peacetime use of atomic energy through the Nuclear Insurance Association of Canada.

W. J. Flynn, manager of NIAC in Montreal, said the association was set up last June for the handling of insurance claims by persons suffering damage or injury from atomic reactors.

"For instance," he said, "if an atomic reactor were set up in Vancouver or Victoria and it caused damage or injury on Vancouver Island, we would pay any claims made by insured Vancouver Islanders."

Mr. Flynn added that there is no private insurance against damage or injury caused by war.

"If Canada is ever involved in another war, the federal government would be expected to take care of all such claims," he said.

Mr. Flynn said NIAC has already sold considerable insurance in respect of a sub-critical reactor at Toronto and a full-fledged reactor for research and education at Hamilton, Ont.

"Workers at the Chalk River atomic plant are covered under a separate insurance scheme and do not come under NIAC," Mr. Flynn said.

James Matson of Montreal, who is manager for Canada of the Royal Insurance Co., spoke on NIAC at the annual conference of the Association of Superintendents of Insurance at the Empress Hotel Wednesday.

which carries the used blood to the lungs. Here the blood filters through spongy tissues, giving up its carbon dioxide and taking on a fresh supply of oxygen. On the left side, the contracting ventricle forces open a valve leading to the great aorta. This big artery divides and subdivides, sending fresh blood to every part of the body.

The heart beats lub-dub, lub-dub about 70 times a minute. It beats day and night and in a normal lifetime it may beat lub-dub two or three billion times. What's more, your little heart was happily beating away even before you were born.

Manitoba Tory MP, Val Yacula, Dies

WINNIPEG (CP) — Val Yacula, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Springfield, died of a heart attack at his home here Wednesday night.

The 50-year-old MP won his seat in the March 31 election after being defeated in the June, 1957, campaign. He defeated CCF member Jake Schulz and was the first PC to represent the constituency since 1930.

Born in the Ukraine, Mr. Yacula came to Canada at the age of five. He received his BA from the University of Manitoba in 1939.

Mr. Yacula taught school at Elma, Ladywood and East Selkirk from 1927 to 1944 when he entered the hotel business.

Mr. Yacula is survived by his wife and one daughter. His death left the House of Commons standing at PCs 206, Liberals 48, CCF 8 with three seats vacant.

Most of Canada's production of palladium, a type of platinum, comes from Ontario's Sudbury district.

Five Provinces Join in B.C.'s Freight Battle

Five other provinces have joined with British Columbia in its fight against freight rate increases, Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced Wednesday.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have accepted a B.C. proposal for technical level talks. They are slated for Oct. 1 or 2 at Ottawa.

Mr. Bonner said last week he would ask financial experts of all provinces to meet on the matter. B.C., he said, "will vigorously oppose" a 19 per cent proposed rate hike.

The technical talks will not likely add to the submission B.C. will make to the Board of Transport hearing in Ottawa Oct. 6. Special counsel, Charles Brazier, QC, of Vancouver, will present a brief claiming the current request is based on anticipated expenditure, not current costs.

Mr. Bonner said earlier he felt the latest freight rate application asks a potential increase of 34 per cent, which could cost B.C. consumers some $10,000,000 annually.

He said B.C. will propose to the inter-provincial conference that the federal government make diminishing grants to the railways to permit a program of modernization. This would create efficiency and abolish the need for rate hikes, the AG added.

"I am confident this meeting will be a prelude to a meeting of the political heads of the provinces," he added.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Excellent results can be realized from secret meetings with vital persons now. Don't try to go it alone so much, but co-operate with experts and creative persons you trust. Lend a helping hand wherever you can, also.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—A wise comrade understands what your motives and ambitions are and willingly extends the support you need at this time. Be broadminded, pliable. Don't turn a deaf ear toward anyone asking for aid. This is a fine day for you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Look towards big civic-projects today, for there is much progress possible to you along these lines, commensurate with the earnest effort you put into them. Get your bills paid, too, and be inventive, wide awake.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Stepping right into the groove of novel and constructive plans is easy at the present time. Meet as many new people of merit as possible. If you are alive to what is going on about you, others will be attracted and give you boost.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—A fine opportunity to put monetary affairs with higher ups on a more secure basis. Also, it will be possible to attain greater harmony with the person nearest your heart. Your hunches are right, so follow them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Anything connected with associates can be discussed equitably and successfully today. Arrange meetings and co-operate to fullest extent. P.M. is wonderful for being with bosom friend and having a delightful time. Be joyful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—An ideal day to add an artistic touch here, a practical touch there to home, office, or other surroundings. Get files in order, reports out of the way. Then take care of your health. Go to bed early.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—This is one of those splendid days when you are able to have a most delightful time. Get in touch with those persons you love best and show your affection, loyalty. Enjoy together those functions, sport, amusements you prize.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Changing systems, furniture, etc., at abode more in accordance with taste of family ties is fine right now. It is best to do so, or there will be real friction. Hence, co-operate and know that the ideas are good.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Dashing about haphazardly only wastes time. See that you accomplish what you set out to do in a quiet, thinking fashion. Be considerate of everyone with whom you deal. Read your paper for the latest trends, ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Real estate affairs should take up your time and energy this A.M. Impress others with your fine business sense, judgment. Install efficiencies, make repairs and spend money wisely. P.M. be very practical and deliberate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Don't hesitate to express yourself clearly with everyone just how you would like to have arrangements in the future, provided you do not stoop to sarcasm. Look after your health. P.M. let sociability reign.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

The intelligent child born Friday is the type who knows where all things properly belong and easily keeps order about him or her. Hence, it is necessary that you are a great example to your Analytical child, or you soon lose the respect that should be yours. Excellent horoscope for any profession that has to do with precision and sanitation, such as doctor, dentist, explorer, chemist, dietician, etc.

UBC Jubilee Honors Political Chiefs

VANCOUVER — Youthful University of British Columbia today will bestow honorary degrees on Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson at a convocation marking the university's 50th anniversary.

Also to be honored are CCF leader M. J. Coldwell and Premier Bennett of B.C.

The prime minister, after travelling by plane from Saskatoon to Vancouver, was to address the Vancouver Canadian Club on "The State of Canada's Economy" and then go to the university convocation.

Mr. Diefenbaker will fly north Friday on a trip to the Yukon that will include speech-making and fishing. This year the Yukon marks the diamond jubilee of the 1897-98 Klondike gold rush.

Wednesday Mr. Diefenbaker made a one-day stopover in Saskatoon to visit his mother. The day was highlighted by an impromptu tour of Canada's first potash plant.

Mr. Pearson arrived by plane this morning and was welcomed by B.C. Liberal leader Arthur Laing.

He will address a university gathering today and the Vancouver Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday.

Wednesday UBC paid tribute to some of its elders in the field of higher education. Officials and former officials of seven universities in the English-speaking world received honorary doctor of law degrees at a convocation.

Recipients were W. C. Costin, president of St. John's College, Oxford; Dr. Harold Dodds, president emeritus of Princeton University; Sir

Hector Hetherington, vice-chancellor and principal of the University of Glasgow; Dr. D. W. Logan, principal of the University of London; Msgr. Irene Lussier, rector of the University of Montreal; T. H. Matthews, former registrar of McGill University, now executive secretary of the national conference of Canadian universities; and R. G. Sproul, former president of the University of California.

About 250 people witnessed the convocation ceremony in the university's war memorial gymnasium. Candidates were presented by Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of UBC, and received their doctorates from A. E. (Dal) Grauer, chancellor.

The convocation address was delivered by Msgr. Lussier, who said that as a Quebecer, "and moreover one of French origin," he was especially glad to receive an honorary degree "from the university of a province which, by its very name, is more British than the rest of Canada."

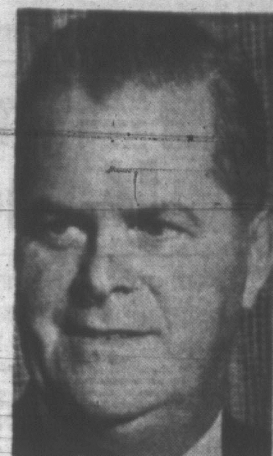

Msgr. Lussier added: "This fraternity stretching across the Rockies is a clear indication of this unity in diversity which makes Canada the great and good country that it is."

Msgr. Lussier's address was one in a series comprising a four-day symposium held in conjunction with the jubilee celebrations. The symposium is entitled "the scholar, the university and the world community."

The rector said: "We are living in an era of confusion. Religion and morality are losing ground. The hierarchy of values must be restored in the light of the ultimate end of

Sceptre Loses Again

NEWPORT, R.I. (CP) — Columbia, the U.S. defender, swept over the Atlantic in a stiff breeze today and won the third America's Cup yacht race by more than a mile from Britain's challenger, Sceptre.

Columbia stormed across the finish line with her red-topped spinnaker almost pulling her out of the water. Sceptre was far back in the haze.

Columbia covered the 24-mile windward-leeward course in an unofficial three hours nine minutes seven seconds.

The American yacht leads the best-of-seven series, 3-0.

Just as the challenger started on the third leg, she lost her genoa jib. Her crew, wearing foul weather gear because of the heavy spray, rigged a substitute.

Sceptre had a five-foot lead and was on the windward side at the start but Columbia smashed through the heavy seas and soon was out in front.

Victoria Man Badly Injured

Istan Varro, 21, of Victoria, was reported in critical condition at West Coast General Hospital in Port Alberni today as a result of a car crash Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. on the Alberni summit.

His companion, A. T. Corvelo, whose address is not known, also is in hospital, but the extent of his injuries is not determined.

Police gave Varro's address as Box 818, Victoria.

According to RCMP in Alberni, Varro, a Canadian Pacific Railway employee, was driving a 1951 sedan westward toward the Alberni when it went out of control on a sharp curve and crashed into a rock bluff.

Police said the curve was on a downgrade, and that rain was falling at the time of the accident.

Varro has a brother, Lazlo, a patient in Royal Jubilee Hospital. All other relatives are in Hungary.

Quarantine Lifted

MONTREAL (CP) — Doctors have established that an ailing passenger aboard the liner Ivernia was not suffering from smallpox and a quarantine of the ship was lifted, a spokesman for the Cunard Steamship Co. Ltd., said today.

WOMEN PANIC-STRICKEN

Trucker's Daring Halts Runaway Car

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Cleo Roberts of Denver felt the brakes fail as the car started down a steep, eight-mile hill. She slammed the vehicle into low gear.

The car rounded a curve and then the clutch went out. It picked up speed, swinging around sharp bends in the highway.

Mrs. Gladys Neals of Wichita, Kan., owner of the car, sat tensely as Mrs. Roberts steered around a pickup truck at 75 miles an hour.

WINCHES WHINE AGAIN

Jump in Exports Seen by John D.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today confidently forecast a further boost to Canada's vital export trade resulting from an economic upturn in the United States.

The Canadian economy has been moving upwards ever since Spring "with the recovery taking place on an increasingly broad front," he said in a luncheon speech to the Vancouver Canadian Club.

Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a one-per-cent gain in exports during the first seven months of this year, compared with a year earlier.

"The outlook for Canadian exports for the remainder of 1958 and into 1959 appears favorable," he said.

Dealing with Canadian economy as a whole, the prime minister said that in a number of sectors the country "has regained either all or most of the ground it lost in the recession, while in other sectors new records are being chalked up."

He ticked off a series of figures: July industrial production three per cent above the low of last December "having regained about half the ground lost since the beginning of the recession." August employment of 6,025,000 close to the peak of a year earlier, personal income at record levels, and national production in the second quarter of the year running at a record annual rate of $32,250,000,000.

Kerr Murder Hearing May Run 3 Days

Preliminary hearing for Mrs. Alice Louella Kerr, charged in the shooting of her husband last month, entered its second day in Victoria RCMP court today. (See page 7 for earlier story.)

Of 19 Crown witnesses called by prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie, 10 were yet to be heard at noon, which may extend the hearing into Friday.

Mrs. Kerr is charged with the murder of Albert F. Kerr, 56, at their Hope Bay, North Pender Island, home on Aug. 10.

DEATH WINS RACE AGAINST MERCY FLIGHT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Death won the race against mercy flights scheduled to bring a sick child from Tofino on Vancouver Island, here for treatment.

A commercial plane dispatched Wednesday to bring out Pearl Michael, 6, was unable to complete the mission because of bad weather.

A Royal Canadian Air Force plane was scheduled to take off today in another attempt to bring out the child. The flight was cancelled when officials were notified the child died of a kidney ailment Wednesday night.

'Bill of Rights' Under Draft At Trade Meet

MONTREAL (CP) — A new "bill of rights" for Commonwealth trade, one that may strengthen the bargaining position of the weaker members, likely will emerge when the two-week trade conference ends Friday.

All through the day today delegates tussled with what was reported to be a lengthy draft communique setting out the aims of the 11-country partnership and its views on what fair trade is and how it should be achieved.

It likely will express Commonwealth agreement where possible and should not bar their doors to prevent the free flow of manufactured goods from low-income members. This would help the low earners achieve higher living standards.

REJECT DUMPING

It may suggest that such practices as undercutting of prices and dumping of goods in a competitor's markets be rejected.

And it may urge that where the Soviet and its satellites are either big producers or buyers of certain goods, an approach should be made to try to get them into world commodity agreements to guarantee markets and prevent changes in prices.

These actions may form the basis for a concerted Commonwealth move to free more of the barriers of trade. New attacks against restrictions may be carried out in the forums of the world or in the new Commonwealth Economic Consultative Council created Wednesday.

The Earl of Home, Britain's secretary for Commonwealth relations, announced after Wednesday's confidential talks that the conference agreed to the establishment of the new central agency, to be set up in London in a new building to be donated and to be known as "Commonwealth House."

JOCKEY FINED FOR QUITTING THREE RACES

Sandown Park stewards today cracked down on a jockey for failing to fulfil a riding engagement.

Jockey Ron Williams was fined $50 for taking himself off his mounts in the last three races at Sandown on Thursday. Earlier, stewards set jockey Elvin Arnold down for three days for not allowing sufficient racing room aboard his mount, Sundorn Sue, on Sept. 19.

'Little Summit' On China Crisis?

(See also page 3)

WARSAW — The United States and Communist Chinese ambassadors conferred today for one hour and 45 minutes on the Formosa crisis and agreed to meet again next Tuesday.

Jacob Beam and Wang Pingnan, as in their previous meetings, declined comment. (In London, official sources disclosed Red China had reaffirmed its refusal to compromise on the Formosa issue in a memo to Britain and other Western powers four days ago.

London diplomatic sources reported that urgent backstage moves were under way to shift the Warsaw talks to a "Little Summit" meeting in the United States or elsewhere in Europe.

Fiscal Fight 'On' As Warning Defied

Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO — B.C.'s municipalities today opened their offensive for a better tax deal.

Shrugging off a sharp warning from the government, the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention unanimously voted to plunge into an all-out battle with the provincial government for a new fiscal arrangement that would enable them to stand on their own feet with help from no other government level.

Passed in toto was a special report formulating a new policy that calls on the provincial government to pay the full cost of operating schools and 50 per cent of the construction, all social welfare costs, all arterial road costs and all hospital construction costs.

Only serious debate on the report cropped up in a recommendation urging the provincial government to take over entire operating costs of elementary and secondary schools.

Chilliwack delegate Fred Wilson, a past president of the B.C. School Trustees Association, said the recommendation went too far because it would destroy control of schools by school boards.

CHANGE DEFEATED

If the government paid the operating costs it would also take over complete administrative operations.

In view of "the nonsense shown by pedagogy" in progressive education, "I would hate to have professional educators in complete control of the schools," he said.

He proposed an amendment that the wording be changed to provide that the province pay for the "preponderance" of costs in school operation.

The amendment was defeated after North Vancouver Ald. Kenneth Ratcliff said school boards had little control now under the Public Schools Act.

TRUSTEES ESSENTIAL

The amendment would undermine an earlier warning that UBCM should not contradict the principles of its own report, he said.

Another delegate said he believed the province could not operate the schools without school boards in any event.

Following passage of the schools resolution, UBCM president, Reeve C. A. P. Murison of North Cowichan, read a telegram extending greetings to

'Stop Force' In Far East Lloyd Urges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Britain today called on both Communist and Nationalist China to stop using force in the Formosa crisis immediately.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the United Nations General Assembly that all members of the world body should join in insisting that a peaceful solution to the crisis be worked out.

"We hope that this resort to force will be terminated and that the Chinese Nationalist authorities will also abstain from military activities," he said.

Lloyd also praised the conciliatory role of the U.S.

Turning to the Middle East, in a general summary of Britain's foreign policy, Lloyd said Britain is "anxious that the withdrawal of our troops should take place as speedily as possible," from Jordan.

WASHINGTON (CP) — U.S. defence officials said today some major Canadian cities probably would get some protection from air attack from seven Bomarc missile launching sites the U.S. plans to build near the Canada-U.S. border.

One of the sites is Paine air force base near Everett, Wash., about 60 miles south-east of Victoria.

Laughter Proves Potent Healer

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Today's wonder drug works miracles but old-fashioned prayer, faith and laughter are still potent healers.

This story of a young wife with three children seems to prove a point. It began last March when the wife telephoned her husband, who was in Holland on a business trip.

"I'm afraid I have some terrible news," she said. "The doctors say I have tuberculosis."

"But are they sure?" asked the staggered husband.

"Yes. The x-rays show two spots. One is a bad cavity. They want me to go to the hospital tomorrow."

And then over the telephone came her unsuppressible laughter.

"What's funny?"

"Nothing. But it's better than having to go tonight."

The husband hurried home. The doctors were right. He helped his wife pack and ordered a taxi for the hospital.

Tearfully, she said goodbye to her children.

The taxi bumped along and—to the husband's horror—began to overtake a funeral procession.

Not only did the taxi catch up with the procession, but at a red traffic light it drew abreast the hearse.

Mechanically, the wife looked into the hearse. Great gilded letters on a wreath

beside the coffin fairly shouted:

"Mom—Gone but not forgotten."

"Poor Mom," said the wife crossing herself. Then she laughed.

"What's funny?"

"This awful coincidence," she said.

During the next two weeks the wife was injected with the new miracle drugs of science. And as she fought against consumption, telegrams came to her bedside from friends in several parts of the world.

She was Russian-born and one message from Moscow said the Orthodox priest at St. Peter and Paul had lighted some candles and offered prayers for her recovery.

The wife improved but her doctors said an operation was necessary. They took out a rib and two sections of her right lung.

"Ah, well," she said with a smile, "I always did talk too much."

Three days and four blood transfusions later, the wife pointed feebly to a sign on her hospital door.

"Engaged," said the sign. "Honey," she said to her husband, "will you scratch out that word 'Engaged'?"

"Yes, but why?"

"Well, after 15 years married life, don't you think it should at least read, 'Married'?"

The eminent doctor beside her bed smiled. Surgeon to King George VI, he was one of the world's greatest authorities on tuberculosis.

Drugs and operations work miracles," he said. "So does laughter as that."

This week the wife was allowed to go outside the hospital grounds with her husband to have tea.

Her gaiety seemed to fill the sunlit garden—even when she said a quiet prayer of thanks.

I know the story's true because the wife's my wife.

$ Million for City Under UBCM Plan

(Special to The Times) NANAIMO — Victoria would be about $1,375,000 better off if the provincial government accepted the finance plan suggested by the Union of B.C. Municipalities Wednesday.

Using this year's figures, Victoria would lose a $475,000 provincial grant, but would gain approximately $225,000 in taxes on provincial property, and would save $1,535,000 in school costs and $90,000 in health and welfare costs.

A comparable saving would be seen in other well-developed municipalities.

Taxes could be cut by almost one-third, or the money utilized for improvements in services.

Education cost to the province under the plan would be boosted $45,000,000 more this year if all operating costs were paid. But observers have noted that the government's direct debt will soon be eliminated and thus money used for debt payments could be re-allocated.

... UBCM

"I thought I'd like to read it to you—after the motion," he said.

The irony prompted an outburst of laughter.

Wednesday, Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black warned the convention bluntly, before the report was presented, that it should stay out of politics if it wanted to retain its influence on government thinking.

Today, he had "no comment" on the sweeping changes proposed. Reeve Murison, commenting today in obvious answer to Black's warning told delegates: "This report must be discussed at length here today because, if passed, we must be prepared to stand up to the artillery fire of the government."

FIRST SALVO

He said that since the federal government had agreed to spend two days in formal conference with Canadian municipal leaders, "then the provincial government should do the same with the UBCM on this report."

First salvo in the provincial-municipal battle shaping up over the report was loaded and aimed by the UBCM executive today.

Endorsing a suggestion by Victoria Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, Reeve Murison said copies of the report would be sent to all B.C. members of parliament and the legislature, and their comments on each recommendation would be requested to "make sure they read it."

Ald. Edgelow said the "excellent report is one of the best ever brought before the UBCM."

"Any government which takes this seriously—this completely new look at municipal-provincial financial responsibility—would be welcome."

"Any government which takes this on will be welcomed by the people of B.C. and, indeed, the people of Canada."

Reeve Murison echoed the suggestion that the report was regarded as more than just a B.C. affair. He said its recommendation was not directed at any particular government, but at the system of provincial-municipal relations, not only existing in B.C., but throughout Canada.

He indicated that the adoption of the report as policy was the "point of no return" on UBCM's march for a new deal.

"Adoption of the report means that we should not bring in resolutions that contradict its principle an hour or a year later," he said.

MURISON 'AUTHOR'

Mayor Percy Scurren, chairman of this morning's session and a member of the nine-man committee that drew up the report, gave Reeve Murison credit as being the author of the recommendations.

He said Victoria city manager C. C. Wyatt and UBCM executive director T. R. B. Adams also assisted greatly in working out the recommendations, but Reeve Murison "really is the author of it."

He classified the report as being as important to the UBCM as the Cameron report was in changing the educational picture of the province.

Discussion, featuring a succession of warm compliments for Reeve Murison, lasted at most two hours.

The task of the educator was to train free men. But what is freedom?

Some modern philosophers, said Msgr. Lussier, view freedom as sheer spontaneity—"no guiding light, no precise aim: life for itself. But of what good is freedom if I am at a loss as to what to do with it?"

To many young people freedom meant nothing more than "to bear the weight of the moment, to be subjected to the impulse of the moment and progressively, to tighten the chain to one's own meanness."

Discussing the theme "can man change man," Msgr. Lussier said the time might come when reproduction of the human race will pose serious problems in psychology and pedagogy.

"Anxiety is mounting since we know the atomic influence on mutations and certain contemporary experiments performed on animals."

A look at the fields of biology and psychology would lead to the conclusion that "undoubtedly, man has the means to change man, in his body and in his mind," he said.

"But, morally speaking, can he do it? ... the psychologist, and more so the biologist, if they listen to the voice of their conscience, ask themselves with anxiety to what use will be put the unbiased techniques they are developing."

Mooney Hits Sale Of Athletic Park

NANAIMO — Ald. M. H. Mooney said Wednesday that announcement of a shopping centre deal involving Royal Athletic Park as a site for a $1,500,000 development was "a complete surprise" to him.

"As far as I'm concerned, we are not going to relinquish any park area at all," he said in an interview here where he is attending a municipal convention.

"We're going to need more parks within the next 15 years, let alone lose one."

Saanich Stores Consider Petition

A petition against Saanich shopping bylaw is being considered by a group of independent grocery and hardware merchants.

But they are waiting to see what happens over the shopping hours controversy in Victoria.

Members of this group believe that Saanich council disregarded the wishes of many merchants in removing time restraints from all shopping.

They said the small corner groceries are almost to a man in favor of the bylaw, but the major chain stores are awaiting developments and have not yet extended their store hours.

Some of the larger independent stores have extended their hours and some have not. Many are unhappy over the situation.

Paul Wells, owner of Wells'

Payless Store and post office, 3534 Quadra, is one of several merchants who have obtained 100 names on a petition to keep the shopping hours bylaw as it was last spring.

"But the merchants have never been given the opportunity, as they have in Victoria, to say what they want. The Saanich council had its mind made up. They were tired of all the bickering and they threw the hours wide open," he said.

Trevor Evans of Quadra Hardware, 3205 Quadra, said his store will continue to close all day Monday, "and that is the general opinion of most hardware merchants in Saanich."

"This bylaw should never have been changed," he said. "No merchant was consulted."

Cash and Luck Will Be Needed

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—The way Larry Gough puts it, a Western Interprovincial Football Union franchise for New Westminster for the 1960 season sounds almost plausible.

Gough, 37-year-old Vancouver electrical wholesaler executive, says he has given a lot of thought to the idea of putting a WIFU club in this area and figures it can be done.

The stadium at Queen's Park with some 6,000 seats could be enlarged to 15,000 or better without "too much difficulty."

Aside from the stadium, Gough figures about $400,000 would be needed to get the team going. He has four other associates—so far unnamed—in the plan and says they can raise the $100,000 they estimate they'll need to lay on the line when their plan is presented to league officials. The rest of the $400,000 would be raised by selling $50 shares to the public.

If a stadium deal is worked out, Gough adds, an application to enter the WIFU will be made in November.

Alderman Stu Gifford said if Gough and cohorts "mean business they will get our city council co-operation" in enlarging Queen's Park Stadium, owned by the city of 35,000.

STUKE DUBIOUS

Annis Stukus, Vancouver Sun football editor, is a bit dubious about the plan. Stukus was instrumental in helping Edmonton Eskimos and B.C. Lions obtain WIFU franchises and also was the first coach of both clubs.

Here's what he had to say in his Wednesday column:

"...When you say it fast, it sounds sort of plausible. When you start looking at it closely, you begin to wonder just how strong a bite the football bug has to produce delusions like this."

"Maybe if New Westminster was 200 miles away (from Vancouver), there might be something to the dream. But the short kick (about 10 miles) between Empire Stadium and Queen's Park is too much like a stranger dipping into a till that is already starting to get a little short."

ONE PROBLEM

One of the problems would be to get a three-quarter vote in favor of the New Westminster franchise from the five teams already in the league—Lions, Eskimos, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders.

A bigger one would be the working out of territorial rights with the Lions for Canadian talent.

Harry Spring, president of the B.C. Lions, said he thinks the new club "is a fine idea if they can operate—but where are they going to get Canadian players? We've been in business five years and we're still short of them."

Gough said the team's backers have a plan to get Canadian players which will be announced later.

Meanwhile backers of the proposed club already took some action. They named their prospective team the New Westminster-Burnaby Bears; opened an office and named Gough as general manager.

KURYLO HELPS DRAKES AGAINST NAVY GRIDDERS

Even a line as powerful as the one displayed by Oak Bay Drakes in the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League action needs a lift every now and then. Friday, they will get one.

When the defending B.C. champions line up against Navy, at Royal Athletic Park starting at 8:30 p.m., all-star tackle Joe Kurylo will return to action after being sidelined for two weeks with a knee injury.

In their last meeting, Drakes battered Navy by a 32-0 count, but Tar coach Padre Ivan Edwards is confident that his team has some surprises in store this time out.

Metropolitan Police 4, Hylton 8.
Ponarth 4, Cardiff 9.
Rugby 8, Northampton 4.
Tipton 11, Devonport 14.

Ailing Sandy Totes His Poke

TORONTO (CP)—Sandy Amaros checked in at Western Hospital Tuesday night with pneumonia—and a whole lot besides.

When hospital officials checked the Montreal Royals player's belongings on his admission after the night's international league playoff game with Toronto Maple Leafs, they found so much of the folding stuff in his pockets it took them 20 minutes to count it.

It added up to $4,851 in Canadian, United States and Cuban currency.

Sandy has a habit of lugging his wealth around with him. What's more, the trainer of the Montreal team says he's never bothered to use a locker.

Distress signals will be fluttering atop Macdonald Park masts tonight when JBAA holds its final practices in preparation for their Victoria Rugby Union opener Saturday against Oak Bay Whites.

The team is still lacking front-line talent for the first of their two proposed teams in the newly-expanded, eight-team league. Oak Bay Whites take on Oak Bay Reds in the season's first game tonight at Windsor Park, starting at 5:30 p.m.

Saturday, in addition to the Oak Bay-JBAA game at Macdonald Park, Oak Bay Reds will meet Victoria College at Windsor Park and HMCS Venture will play Royal Roads at Naden. All games start at 2:30 p.m.

Tonight's JBAA practice will start at 6:30 p.m., with all team positions open for competition.

Early Signing

CLEVELAND (AP)—With four more games yet to play in their 1958 season, Cleveland Indians Tuesday signed their winningest pitcher—Calvin Coolidge (Cal) McLish—to a 1959 contract. McLish, who has a 16-7 won-lost record, will get a "substantial" raise.

Lopez 'Home' Again After Long Struggle

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Memo to Al Lopez: Welcome home, coach.

The skipper of the Chicago White Sox, after spending 54 days of the season in the second division and a month in the cellar, has clinched second place again. In his 11 years as a manager, the last eight in the majors, Lopez never has finished lower than second.

A 4-3, 10-inning victory over Detroit Wednesday turned the trick for 1958.

The New York Yankees, who had just lost six straight since the day they clinched the pennant, ended their longest losing string in more than two years by beating Boston 7-5. Cleveland blew a chance to break a third-place tie with Boston and Detroit by losing 7-4 at Kansas City. Baltimore handed the Washington Senators their fifth shutout in six games, 2-0, on the three-hit pitching of Arnie Portocarrero.

BUNNELS KEEPS LEAD

Mickey Mantle hit his 42nd home run and Hank Bauer his 12th as the Yankees beat Tom Brewer, Boston's Pete Runnels (1-for-4) kept the AL batting lead, at .324, while teammate Ted Williams (2-for-3) passed Detroit's Harvey Kuenn for second place at .320.

With three games to play, Willie Mays has upped his lead over Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn to .0019 in their rousing run for the National League batting title.

Mays was 2-for-3 for San Francisco as the Giants lost 10-3 to Chicago Cubs Wednesday, padding his average to .3458 in an 11-game surge in which he has batted at a .528

clip. Ashburn is batting .3438. Willie won his lone bat title in 1954 with a .345 average. Ashburn put away his only title in 1955, batting .338.

Los Angeles Dodgers defeated St. Louis 4-3 in the only other NL game scheduled. Bob Lillis and Doc Demeter homered for the Dodgers, who built a 4-0 lead while setting a National League season double play record with 195. That's one more than the record set in 1928 by Cincinnati and tied twice by the Redlegs.

Stan Musial was 2 for 4 for the Cards, gaining two points for a third place .336 average in the bat race.

Cars Waiting for Checkered Flag

Proof positive that the winter season is almost with us again is this announcement from the Vancouver Island Track Racing Association:

"The final racing program of the season will be held Saturday night at Western Speedway."

When drivers and mechanics put their cars away in the back of garages, you can rest assured that the rainy season is on its way.

Culmination of the five-month car racing season will be a 25-lap Island jolopy championship. It will be the first title dash ever arranged for the jolopies and a record field of 22 cars is expected to line up at the start of the post.

TRYING AGAIN

The jolopy championship was originally scheduled for last weekend, but cancelled because of rain. Should rain put a halt to this week's meet, Vancouver Island Track Racing Association officials will try to stage the big race once more—the following Saturday.

Prize presenting ceremonies, usually held on the season's final meet, will be conducted between Saturday's races. Among the awards still to be presented is one for the Speedway's most popular driver.

Race officials also announced that four stock cars, seized for inspection following the Sept. 13 main event, have been returned to owners.

The seizure is standard practice, a VITRA executive said, in

STRING OF TRAGEDIES ENDS

Violent Deaths Marred Life of Beauty Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—Tragedy hung over the life of Nedra Sanders. Nedra, Mrs. Albert Broccoli since 1951, died of cancer Tuesday in Doctors Hospital. She was 39. Many of those years she spent trying to erase the memories of violent deaths that followed her like a fateful shadow.

At 18, she was married for the first time, to William M. Evans of Chicago. It lasted three years.

She sued for divorce in 1941. The same year she won a beauty contest and became a sought-after cover girl.

Then Evans returned tragically to her life. Incensed when she refused to drop the divorce action, he slashed her with a knife and stabbed to death their two-year-old son, Douglas, and her mother. She obtained a divorce after Evans was sent to the Illinois state prison for life.

MARRIED SINGER
Nedra went to Hollywood. She married singer Buddy Clark and bore him a daughter, Penny, in 1942.

Clark was killed in a plane crash in 1949. He was the only casualty among the six passengers.

Less than a year later, Penny, then 7, ran across a Brentwood, Calif., street to meet a playmate. She was struck and killed by a car.

In 1951, Nedra married Albert Broccoli. They had two children, Anthony, 4, and Christina, 2. Broccoli enjoyed success as a movie producer in England and they lived in London.

But Nedra fell ill last May and returned here for treatment. It failed.

Hungary Faces Purge After November Vote

VIENNA (Reuters)—Hungarian Communist chief Janos Kadar is engaged in a fierce struggle to retain power, according to reports reaching here.

These reports said Hungary is likely to see a major purge as a result of the struggle. The purge probably will follow Hungarian elections expected late in November.

They will be the first elections since the Communists took over Hungary 10 years ago. They were originally scheduled in May, 1957, but were postponed in the political turmoil following the 1956 anti-Communist uprising.

Informed quarters in Budapest said little change is anticipated from the elections themselves, but reports reaching Vienna said a major house-cleaning will follow.

HULA HOOPS HARMFUL?

CHICAGO (UPI)—Dr. William O. Womer, president of the Chicago Chiropractic Society, warned against a new malady, "Waikiki Warp" which is sweeping the land.

"Waikiki Warp," naturally, is caused by undulating excessively inside a hula hoop, Womer said.

"A hula hooper exposes himself to contractions of the lumbar spine, or the victim could suffer a misalignment of one of the lumbar vertebrae," the chiropractor said.

GIGANTIC SALE AT SAWMILL

70 Years of Business 'Gone' Under Auctioneer's Hammer

By DON INGHAM
The muttered bids of hard-bitten mill men, machinery dealers, and scrap metal buyers marked the end of 70 years of business at Crowe Gonnason Co. Ltd. sawmill as auctioneer Art Roberts today opened a three-day sale of the mill equipment.

The seven-acre site, a timber stand, and mill with a replacement value of $500,000 will be sold. The company has gone into voluntary liquidation with O. E. Day, secretary-treasurer, and Alex Mason as co-liquidators.

There were 32 prospective buyers on hand today as the auction started with the sale of the heaviest equipment.

"The sale will follow the route taken by a log through the mill," Mr. Roberts said, "starting with the boom winch and boom chains, and working through the mill and planer mill."

Bidding was light on most of the log handling machinery, with the bulk of it being taken for scrap. Expensive live roller installations seemed destined for the cutting torch, and saw grinding machinery went to J. G. McDonald, Vancouver machinery dealer.

BID REJECTED
The saw carriage complete with setworks, with a replacement value of $21,000, is still unsold. Mr. Roberts and his assistant, Larry Wood, rejected a bid of $100.

Bidding went on through the lunch hour.

Scheduled for sale Friday are millwork machines, electric motors, office equipment, and the rolling stock, such as forklift loaders, carriers and trucks. Saturday will see the sale of portable power tools, paint, hardware and all lumber.

BIGGEST SALE
Mr. Roberts said this auction is the biggest single sale ever undertaken by his firm of Maynard and Sons.

"We have a staff of 12 on the sale," he said. "Mr. Wood and I knew nothing about sawmills or mill machinery six weeks ago, but we've been boning up steadily since then."

Buyers today came from the city, Sidney, Jordan River, Cobble Hill, Chemainus and Alberni on Vancouver Island, and from Edmonton, Calgary, Williams Lake, Burnaby, Vancouver, Crescent Beach and Cascade.

WINNING TEAM

Team of Jean Dunbar, 1007 Joan Crescent, and Seven-Up is eligible to compete in several events in "Horse of the Year" show in Vancouver Friday and Saturday. The two had highly successful year in Island shows, and dominated early September meet in Duncan.—(Times photo.)

Riders From City Enter Big Show

A strong contingent of Victoria riders will go to Vancouver Friday to take part in the first annual "Horse of the Year" show to be held Friday night and all day Saturday at the Pacific National Exhibition indoor ring.

The show, sponsored by the Canadian Horse Show Association with proceeds to go to the Children's Hospital in Vancouver, is being held for the first time this year, but is expected to become an annual event.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross is expected to attend. Entries in the show will be restricted to horses and riders that placed first, second, third, or fourth in a show held under CHSA auspices, and they can compete only in the divisions in which they qualified.

Victorians taking part, their mounts, and divisions, are as follows:

Miss Jo-Ann Aubele, Stepping Fast, hack; Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, Dala Shan, hack; C. C. Carpenter, Sky Bingo, open jumping; Mrs. V. Donaldson, Hindu Punch, hack; Miss Jean Dunbar, Seven-Up, equitation, hunting conformation, CHSA junior division, and others; Mrs. William Dunbar, Quardeyna, Arabian pleasure horse and bridle path hack under 15.2 (Miss Jean Dunbar up); Pat Donaldson, Sky Bingo, equitation; Judy Reside, Stepping Fast, equitation; Eileen Whiting, mount not chosen, equitation; David Barnes of Crofton, Hindu Punch, equitation.

Representatives from Victoria Western Horsemen's Club will be Ronald Trickett and Buckshe, Bob Owens and Tacoma, Dink Echols, and Bob Grimshaw and Babe, who will compete in the working stock horse division.

'Sub-Hunters' Docking Here Early Friday

The RCN Pacific Command today announced arrival times of ships returning to Esquimalt from joint U.S.-Canadian anti-submarine warfare exercises off Cape Flattery.

The exercises conclude today. Returning at 8 a.m. Friday will be the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, comprising HMC ships Crescent, Fraser, Margaree, Skeena, Cayuga and Athabaskan.

Due at 10 a.m. is the Fourth Escort Squadron, made up of HMC ships Stettler, Antigonish, New Glasgow, New Waterford and Jonquiere.

Arriving at about the same time will be four United States submarines which have been acting as targets in this exercise, the Calman, Rock, Charr and Razorback.

Last to arrive, at 2 p.m., will be the destroyer escort USS Hanna.

All ships will berth at HMC Dockyard and HMCS Naden.

Shore leave will be granted by most ships from 12 noon on. The visitors will be here until Monday morning.

Tax Plum Seen In Shop Centre

$35,000 a Year From Park Deal

The city of Victoria will realize about $35,000 annually in taxes if a proposed $1.5 million regional shopping centre is built on the site of Royal Athletic Park, city assessor A. G. Joyce said today.

Revenue from trade licences would swell city coffers even more. Just how much more depends on the number and type of businesses, said Mr. Joyce.

Meanwhile, Milton King, King Realty, confirmed a statement by Mayor Percy Scurrell that a price of $150,000 had been mentioned for the sale of Royal Athletic Park by the city.

Mr. King said he expected opposition from the "sporting section" of Victoria to the plan, outlined exclusively in the Times Tuesday. Spokesman for an unidentified group of backers, Mr. King said a two-storey shopping centre is proposed on an eight-acre site bounded by Cook, Caledonia, Pembroke and Vancouver Streets.

His clients are willing to turn back to the city all physical properties at Royal Athletic, said Mr. King. Together with the purchase price and the tax revenue it would receive, the city could develop nearby Topaz Park as an entertainment and recreation centre, he said.

OUTDOOR THEATRE
Properly developed, Topaz could be used not only for football and baseball but also for productions similar to Vancouver's Theatre Under the Stars, Mr. King said.

"Studies show Topaz is about seven degrees warmer during summer evenings than Royal Athletic," he said. "Besides, adequate parking facilities exist at Topaz while Royal Athletic car parking is atrocious."

Mr. King saw the shopping centre development as creating jobs for 400 men. Victoria materials and labor would be used exclusively on the project, he reiterated.

A meeting will be arranged with city council "when we have our plans more fully developed," Mr. King said.

Bishop From India Here Next Month

Spiritual head of an Anglican diocese embracing 11,200,000 people in north-west India, Bishop Ronald Bryan of Barapokore will visit Victoria for four days starting October 9.

The Bishop is scheduled to hold talks with Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, Premier W. A. C. Bennett, and Mayor Percy Scurrell in addition to meeting church leaders.

With the exception of one woman missionary, Bishop Bryan is the only white missionary in the 20,000 square mile diocese in West Bengal.

Former Archdeacon of Calcutta, Bishop Bryan was appointed to organize the diocese in 1951 and has been assisted financially since then by the Canadian Church.

His visit to Victoria will be made in the course of a six-week tour of Canada at the invitation of the Primate of All Canada following sessions of the Lambeth Conference.

While in Victoria the Bishop will attend the following meetings: Rotary luncheon, Oct. 9 at the Empress Hotel; meeting of the women of city and diocese, Oct. 10 at St. John's Anglican Church, and clergy and laity of the Deanery of Victoria, Oct. 10 at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay.

He will preach at Mattins in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday, Oct. 12 and at Evensong in St. Paul's Church, Esquimalt.

TRAFFIC FINES
In city police court today: Ronald Jonsson, 1044 Redfern, $35 for careless driving.

Alexander Gillis, 1887 Carnarvon, $35 and licence suspended for careless driving.

CAPT. H. A. SHAW, OBE ... new ship in Pacific trade

First Ship After Strike Docks Here

TSS Pacific Stronghold docked at Ogden Point this morning, first ship in since the longshore strike started Aug. 21.

Appropriately, it is the maiden voyage for the Furness, Withy liner. The 500-foot ship is the sixth built for the U.K. Pacific trade since 1949.

The postwar Furness, Withy service was launched in September of that year by Pacific Fortune. Other ships built since then are Unity, Reliance, Northwest and Envoy.

Initials of the ships' names spell out "Furness."

The newest ship is identical with the others in the postwar building program, with a few refinements, such as double instead of single electric winches.

She has luxurious accommodation for 12 passengers and refrigerated as well as ordinary cargo space. Inward bound, she brought a small cargo of spirits, china, and English cars; returning, she hopes to have a full cargo, including B.C. salmon.

Master of Pacific Stronghold is Capt. H. A. Shaw, OBE, a veteran Furness, Withy officer. He first visited Victoria in 1921 on the first ship the company put into the Pacific trade, the old Mongolian Prince.

Agent for Furness, Withy in Victoria is King Bros. Ltd.

Chief Canadian Scout Dinner Guest Friday

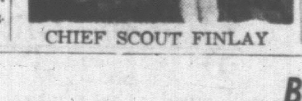

Chief Canadian Scout Fred J. Finlay of Ottawa will be guest of honor at a dinner meeting of the Victoria district Boy Scouts' Association, Friday, 6 p.m., at the Union Club.

Also at the dinner, which will be followed by a general meeting at 8 p.m. in Scout Headquarters, will be District Commissioner Reginald Girard, president Lloyd Jermaine, and assistant district commissioners.

Mr. Finlay is visiting Victoria on a cross-Canada tour which has taken him as far north as Tuktoyaktuk on the shores of the Arctic Ocean.

Born in England and educated in Scotland he is an Associate of the Institute of Bankers in Scotland, a Fellow of the Canadian Bankers' Association, a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Secretaries, and an active member of the Rotary Club of Ottawa.

Mr. Finlay leaves Saturday for Vancouver and northern B.C. centres.

CHIEF SCOUT FINLAY

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The "Twilight Singers," a vocal group of senior Victoria citizens, will give a concert Friday 8 p.m. in Victoria West United Church.

Community Chest campaign chairman Justin Harbord will report on the progress of the drive at a meeting of the Lions Club Friday noon at the Empress Hotel.

Coal production on Vancouver Island in August was down about 28 per cent from the same month last year, B.C. Mines Department reported today.

Production in August of 1958 was 14,756 tons as compared to 17,559 a year ago. Total production for the province was reduced 50 per cent, from 75,257 to 35,717 tons, largely due to closure of some collieries near Fernie.

Writer-photographer Cecil Clark will show photographs depicting growth of Victoria from 1858 to the present at a meeting of the Victoria branch, Community Planning Association of Canada, to be held at 904 Government at 8 tonight.

The meeting is open to the public.

A mining conference to be attended by representatives of labor, industry and the University of British Columbia has been called for Oct. 23 and 24 by Mines Minister W. K. Kiernan.

About 60 persons have been invited to the talks, which will be held at the Legislative Buildings.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. In applying for the old age pension, could my passport take the place of a birth certificate? F.G.

A. Federal authorities insist on a birth certificate. A passport will not suffice.

Q. Do persons practicing medicine in Canada with the degree FRCS acquire the degree anywhere but in London, England? L.R.

A. The degree, Fellow, Royal College of Surgeons, can be obtained anywhere in England, depending on where the examinations are written. An equivalent degree is obtainable in Canada.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Question and answer will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve mathematical or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

Russia's giant satellite Sputnik III is scheduled to cross Victoria skies again Friday and Saturday mornings.

Friday 5:26 a.m. it will be in the northwest sky moderately high going north and Saturday at 5:43 a.m. it will follow the same course at a lower elevation.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce executive decided at a meeting Wednesday to study the controversial six-day shopping week problem and the present closing arrangement and make a recommendation to general membership at the next meeting, Oct. 8.

The chamber would then make its stand known to city council at council meeting the following day.

B.C. centennial committee publicity director Douglas Horan today announced his resignation. He is returning to university to obtain his MA in history, preparatory to a teaching career. He leaves for UBC classes Monday. Mr. Horan has been in charge of the centennial office in the Weiler Building here for two years. Prior to coming here he was attached to the CBC news service at Vancouver.

Victoria Old Age Pensioners Society will meet at 1:30 p.m. next Wednesday in Knights of Pythias Hall.

City engineering department today advised a traffic signal has been installed at Cook and Hillside and will be in operation at noon Friday. Three new stop signs will be installed next week at Vancouver and Fairfield; Fifth and Kings, and at May and Memorial Crescent.

The driver of one of two cars that paced each other at 60 miles an hour for several blocks along Hillside Avenue Sept. 12 was fined $35 and had his driving license suspended in police court today.

Frederick Sheldrake, 619 Queens, told police when stopped, "I thought I was going 50." The offence took place in a 30 speed zone. The other car turned down a side road and disappeared.

Land surveys, ordered by the provincial works department, will begin "very soon" on the site of the proposed new Victoria Courthouse, Works Minister W. N. Chant said today.

The site is opposite Christ Church Cathedral on Quadra at Burdett. Work is to be carried out by a Victoria surveying firm and will begin "as soon as the surveys are free," the minister said.

$75 IN HOLE AS PRANK GOES DOWN DRAIN

Two Victoria men who removed a no-parking sign and red lantern from a city sewer excavation "for a stupid prank," discovered that jests can be expensive when they appeared in police court today.

Charged with removing the equipment Sept. 1 were John Marsh, 25 Lotus, and Glen Leggett, 1127 Catherine.

Leggett: "It was just a stupid prank, Your Honor." Magistrate Henry Hall: "And a dangerous one."

Leggett: "We were going to put them back when it got dark."

Magistrate Hall: "But you didn't. I fine you $75 each." The men requested, and were granted, "time to dig up the money."

The Stewart is 26 years old. Her hull and main propulsion machinery are sound, and conversion to oil will add many years to her life.

She is the second government ship based here to be converted to oil in recent months. Ss. Estevan, 46-year-old light-house tender, went back into service in January after the changeover.

The Stewart's job is to chart B.C. coastal waters. She's one of the handsomest ships on the coast: yacht-like in profile, 214 feet long, built in Collingwood, Ont., in 1932.

Her working season is from spring to fall, and during the winter she is moored at the Department of Transport jetty at the west end of Johnson Street bridge.

In 1944, the Stewart made headlines when she struck hard on Ripple Rock, was beached at Plummer's Bay with decks awash, later salvaged and put back in service.

Founder of Kiwanis Village Honorary President for Life

Founder and past-president of the Kiwanis Village Society Ed Mallek was unanimously raised to honorary president for life at the annual meeting Wednesday night.

He was succeeded in office by fellow Kiwanis member Reg Harris, who paid tribute to the work done by his predecessor.

Dr. W. M. Hackney was elected honorary director. Active directors elected for three-year terms were: Harvey Bailey, Sam Hill Ron Loch-head and Forrest Shaw.

W. R. Gibson, Glenn Hope and D. H. Lawson have two further years to serve and Charles Craig, Ralph Mathews, John McLeod and Sam Swetnam one year each.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Drug Addiction on the Air

The television show "Close-Up," which seems to me the most interesting thing done in Canada, turned up last night at a new time, with an extended hour-long format which will undoubtedly broaden the scope of the program of opinion.

In spite of some technical fluffs and some really indistinguishable cross-chatter in a mass interview, the show rolled along nicely, its power attaining a certain lunatic finality with Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon challenging President Eisenhower—"here and now, on this (Canadian) program"—to call back Congress to determine whether the U.S. had "a scintilla of legal right to defend Quemoy."

(Morse doesn't think they have.)

The high point of the show, from the single standpoint of audience interest, was an interview conducted by Bob Anderson with a 19-year-old drug addict.

This girl, framed effectively in silhouette opposite Anderson, spoke the strange language of the addicts in tones of infinite sadness; soft, hopeless, beaten and drowsy—she had had "a fix," she said, half an hour before being interviewed.

She had started on heroin after the effect of "goof balls" and "reefers" did nothing for her. She was intrigued, she confessed, by the reactions of other drug addicts. The effect "could not be described."

"Try," said Anderson. "Well, you know," she replied. "Sorta Cloud-niney." (Whatever that means.)

How did she get the $24 a day necessary for her four shots a day?

"I'm a prostitute," she murmured.

And what were her chances of straightening up?

"It takes guts, and will-power," she replied. "Lots of guts—and I lack will-power. I was always easily led."

As the interview closed, a lonely flute segued into the background, until the whole sordid story took on the dreamlike, unreal quality of a bitter child's tale. And this (some of us thought, in discussing it afterwards) was both seductive and dangerous. In conducting such interviews, is "Close-Up" really doing a public service?

The girl, for all her teen-aged despair and futility, made the initial mystery of dope, the attempt to describe the reaction, sound like some exciting adventure. The impact of this talk on restless and impressionable young minds may have been exactly the opposite to that intended.

In other words: to be completely honest journalists, the "Close-Up" people might have concluded the interview with a filmed minute or two on an addict trying to "kick the habit." It wouldn't be pretty, but it would show that the easy slide into this habit can lead only to degradation and unspeakable torture.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Precious China Plates
Safe in Plastic Cases

By PENNY SAVER

Any new idea to make packing, carting or storing of household items easier, is always welcome. That's why I'm going to tell you about a dandy plastic case in which your good china plates can be safely encased. Softly padded and quilt-like, the zippered case keeps the most delicate ware from chipping when being handled. Cases come in dinner-plate size and hold as many as eight pieces at a time. You could buy several at this low price of $1.98 each.

Compression of a foamy texture between two surfaces, makes this spongy stripping excellent for shutting out draughts around doors and windows. This waterproof stripping can hardly be seen and, best of all, there is no nailing or tacking involved in putting it up—because it sticks! It stretches, too, and it sells at 49 cents a package.

You'd feel like a new person if there was a sparkling new suit or dress hanging in your cupboard. Really not hard to accomplish, either. You simply choose a pattern, buy the yardage goods then get out your needle and thread. I've an idea you'll go for this crease-resistant material that is soft in texture yet strong and warm enough to wear all during the fall and winter months.

Go on! I dare you to splurge and purchase this autumn-toned fabric priced at $1.69 a yard.

Rolling your own? I mean are you making your own cigarettes? If so, I've found a dandy roller for the pocket or purse. So simple to use, this roller is selling at 25 cents.

Keep my phone ringing with your calls! My number is 2-3131.

On Etiquette

SERVING DEMI-TASSE

When demi-tasse is served after dinner, does the hostess usher her guests from the table into the living room, or does she go directly to the kitchen to bring in the equipment, thus leaving her guests to fare for themselves for the time being? Is it proper to pour the coffee in the kitchen, or must it be poured in the living room? Must the coffee be served black, or are sugar and cream provided for those who wish them?

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

I think that it is a little more hospitable for a hostess to move toward the living room with her guests, then excuse herself right away to go to the kitchen. The coffee-pouring in the kitchen is optional, but most hostesses do it in the presence of their guests when they can ask each one, "Do you prefer sugar? Cream?" Pouring coffee can be delightful if there is the equipment and available table to hold the tray. Guests usually take their demi-tasse black, even though they prefer cream for regular coffee. However, a thoughtful hostess will be prepared.

DEAR ABBY...

'Uncover' the Evidence!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 44 and I am 43. We have been married 23 years and have a son in the service and one in high school. My husband has run around for years, but I always covered up for him because of the children. I have spent some very lonely years, Abby. I kept praying that he would change, but he hasn't. Now I am considering divorce while I am still young enough to find a little happiness for myself elsewhere. I hate to do this but there seems to be no other solution because my children will soon be leaving us to make lives of their own and I don't want to be left alone. Can you blame me?

VERY UNDECIDED.

DEAR UNDECIDED: "Covering up" never solved anything. The only way to save your marriage is to give your troubles a good airing. It's never too late.

DEAR ABBY: Last year my husband, his brother, his brother's wife and I went on a fishing trip. Now I know how to fish and I love it, but my sister-in-law just sat around and looked bored and put make-up on. She gripped about the heat, she gripped about the mosquitoes and ruined the trip for everybody. This year my husband said the four of us should go on another fishing trip and I said nothing doing, not with her! He then said if his brother's wife doesn't go, it would look bad if I went, so he and the brother would go alone. Should I consent to the foursome again or should I let the two boys go alone?

FISHERMAN'S WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: Don't be a sucker. Go!

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the woman who didn't want her boyfriend to grow a beard; Now exactly what's wrong with a man growing a beard? I am sure that God did not put hair on the faces of men so that Gillette could sponsor boxing matches. And you advise her, "If the beard scratches—scratch him!" Men lost their beards at the same time women were given the right to vote and permitted to drive automobiles (you can do neither intelligently) but I'll bet that since you women stick together you will never print this. K.S.E.

DEAR K.S.E.: You lose!

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law makes me sick. What do you think of a woman who laughs like a hyena at a joke her husband has told in her presence at least fifty times?

FED UP.

DEAR FED: She is either one heck of a wife or it's one heck of a joke!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In any discussion concerning whether or not supplementary vitamins should be added to a well-balanced diet, we must consider vitamin losses in the foods we eat. This is a much bigger factor than many people realize.

For instance, turnip greens, if kept at 40 degrees for 24 hours, are not drastically affected, but if they are kept at room temperature for that length of time, they show a great vitamin loss. Cabbage, even when kept in the refrigerator for a week, loses half of its vitamin C content.

Of course, vitamin C is the most readily lost of any vitamin. For this reason cabbage should not be kept too long. When green beans are kept in a refrigerator for 48 hours, they lose 60 per cent of their vitamin C content.

In order to save as many vitamins as possible, you should not cut or peel vegetables or fruits far ahead of the time you are going to eat them. It also has been demonstrated that berries, vegetables and fruits lose more of their vitamins when the outer skin, has been broken by bruising.

Many women like to know about vitamin loss in frozen foods. The freezing itself does not decrease vitamin potency. However, some methods of blanching do. Peas which are scalded in steam and then allowed to cool in water lose more than those which are frozen immediately after scalding.

However, as a whole, frozen vegetables hold up very well in vitamin content.

The average housewife cannot make a career of this and has no control over the factors of production, storage and shipping.

She can keep vegetables and fruits in the refrigerator rather than at room temperature, and it would seem wise to shop oftener and for shorter periods so that there will not be so long a time between the garden and the dinner table.

If you wish to have my leaflet "Vitamins and Diet" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 38 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Columbia Wins
Third Straight

NEWPORT, R.I. (CP)—Columbia, the U.S. defender, swept over the Atlantic in a stiff breeze today and won the third America's Cup yacht race by more than a mile from Britain's challenger, Sceptre.

Columbia stormed across the finish line with her red-topped spinnaker almost pulling her out of the water. Sceptre was far back in the haze.

Columbia covered the 24-mile windward-leeward course in an unofficial three hours nine minutes seven seconds.

The American yacht leads the best-of-seven series, 3-0.

Just as the challenger started on the third leg, she lost her genoa jib. Her crew, wearing foul weather gear because of the heavy spray, rigged a substitute.

Sceptre had a five-foot lead and was on the windward side at the start but Columbia smashed through the heavy seas and soon was out in front.

MERCY FLIGHT

(See Earlier Story Page 24)

VANCOUVER (CP) —

Death won the race against mercy flights scheduled to bring a sick child from Tofino on Vancouver Island, here for treatment.

A commercial plane dispatched Wednesday to bring out Pearl Michael, 6, was unable to complete the mission because of bad weather.

A Royal Canadian Air Force plane was scheduled to take off today in another attempt to bring out the child. The flight was cancelled when officials were notified the child died of a kidney ailment Wednesday night.

Victoria Man
Badly Injured

Istan Varro, 21, of Victoria, was reported in critical condition at West Coast General Hospital in Port Alberni today as a result of a car crash Wednesday at 5.30 p.m. on the Alberni summit.

His companion, A. T. Corveo, whose address is not known, also is in hospital, but the extent of his injuries is not determined.

Police gave Varro's address as Box 818, Victoria.

According to RCMP in Alberni, Varro, a Canadian Pacific Railway employee, was driving a 1951 sedan westward toward the Alberni when it went out of control on a sharp curve and crashed into a rock bluff.

Police said the curve was on a downgrade, and that rain was falling at the time of the accident.

Varro has a brother, Lazlo, a patient in Royal Jubilee Hospital. All other relatives are in Hungary.

One Best—Coran.Canada Calls
For Far East
Cease-Fire

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Canada joined today with the United States and Britain in calling for a cease-fire in the Formosa Straits, but indicated that such a development could only be a first step in settling the Far-East crisis.

External Affairs Minister Sidnew Smith, making Canada's policy speech in the United Nations' general debate in the U.N. assembly, said that while a step such as a cease-fire was "immediately imperative," thought should be given to the unravelling of the twisted situation which has produced the present crisis off the China coast.

Earlier Britain called on both Communist and Nationalist China to stop using force in the Formosa crisis immediately.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said that all members of the world body should join in insisting that a peaceful solution to the crisis be worked out.

"We hope that this resort to force will be terminated and that the Chinese Nationalist authorities will also abstain from military activities," he said.

Lloyd also praised the conciliatory role of the U.S.

Turning to the Middle East, in a general summary of Britain's foreign policy, Lloyd said Britain is "anxious that the withdrawal of our troops should take place as speedily as possible," from Jordan.

Kerr Murder
Hearing May Run 3 Days

Preliminary hearing for Mrs. Alice Louella Kerr, charged in the shooting of her husband last month, entered its second day in Victoria RCMP court today.

(See page 7 for earlier story.) Of 19 Crown witnesses called by prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie, 10 were yet to be heard at noon, which may extend the hearing into Friday.

Mrs. Kerr is charged with the murder of Albert F. Kerr, 56, at their Hope Bay, North Pender Island, home on Aug. 10.

'Rivals' Clash
At UBCM MeetBy JOHN MIKA
Times Staff Writer

NANAIMO—B.C.'s two electrical utilities appeared today to have locked horns in a struggle for supremacy in the province.

Nothing has been said directly by either the provincially-owned B.C. Power Commission or the privately owned B.C. Electric Company, to put the issue in a clear light.

But, at the Union of Municipalities convention here today, Dr. H. L. Purdy, BCE executive vice-president, charged the power commission with "producing a great red herring" Wednesday.

BCPC general manager H. L. Briggs, told the convention that Victoria customers of the BCE pay $9.20 for 300 kilowatt hours, whereas a majority of BCPC customers pay about $6.50.

Numerous UBCM delegates interpreted Mr. Briggs remarks as a launching of a campaign to expand BCPC's jurisdiction.

Slamming back today, Dr. Purdy wondered whether it was only "sheer chance" that Mr.

Briggs singled out Victoria rates for a comparison.

He said a comparison of rates charged in other areas would have put the BCE position in a more favorable light.

He also pointed out that BCPC has announced it will increase its rates soon. BCE could not do that, he said. It had to go to the Public Utilities Commission and justify its request for a rate increase before it could get approval.

The apparent clash excited great interest among UBCM delegates. Mayor William Moore of Courtenay, is expected to present a resolution before the convention ends Friday calling for expansion of BCPC services to cover the entire province.

Several delegates have told reporters there is an outside chance that the resolution will be passed if it gets to the floor.

Civic Leaders
Line Up Forces
For 'Better Deal'

By Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO — B.C.'s municipalities today opened their offensive for a better tax deal.

Shrugging off a sharp warning from the government, the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention unanimously voted to plunge into an all-out battle with the provincial government for a new fiscal arrangement that would enable them to stand on their own feet with help from no other government level.

Passed in toto was a special report formulating a new policy that calls on the provincial government to pay the full cost of operating schools and 50 per cent of the construction, all social welfare costs, all arterial road costs and all hospital construction costs.

Only serious debate on the report cropped up in a recommendation urging the provincial government to take over entire operating costs of elementary and secondary schools.

Chilliwack delegate Fred Wilson, a past president of the B.C. School Trustees Association, said the recommendation went too far because it would destroy control of schools by school boards.

CHANGE DEFEATED

If the government paid the operating costs it would also take over complete administrative operations.

In view of "the nonsense shown by pedagogy" in progress.

sive education, "I would hate to have professional educators in complete control of the schools," he said.

He proposed an amendment that the wording be changed to provide that the province pay for the "preponderance" of costs in school operation.

The amendment was defeated after North Vancouver Ald. Kenneth Ratcliff said school boards had little control now under the Public Schools Act.

TRUSTEES ESSENTIAL

The amendment would undermine an earlier warning that UBCM should not contradict the principles of its own report, he said.

Another delegate said he believed the province could not operate the schools without school boards in any event.

Following passage of the schools resolution, UBCM president, Reeve C. A. P. Muriar of North Cowichan, read a telegram extending greetings to

Bomb Found Under CPR Tracks

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—A powerful bomb built of 13 sticks of dynamite, a detonator cap and a pocket watch was discovered today underneath the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks five miles north of Osoyoos in southern British Columbia.

The bomb, which failed to explode, was similar to those planted in a Kelowna hotel and ferry last summer. It was found by a CPE section foreman.

Police blamed failure of the bomb on faulty mechanism.

'Bill of Rights' Under Draft At Trade Meet

MONTREAL (CP)—A new "bill of rights" for Commonwealth trade, one that may strengthen the bargaining position of the weaker members, likely will emerge when the two-week trade conference ends Friday.

All through the day today delegates tussled with what was reported to be a lengthy draft communique setting out the aims of the 11-country partnership, and its views on what fair trade is and how it should be achieved.

It likely will express Commonwealth agreement where possible and should not bar their doors to prevent the free flow of manufactured goods from low-income members. This would help the low earners achieve higher living standards.

REJECT DUMPING
It may suggest that such practices as undercutting of prices and dumping of goods in a competitor's markets be rejected.

And it may urge that when the Soviet and its satellites are either big producers or buyers of certain goods, an approach should be made to try to get them into world commodity agreements to guarantee markets and prevent changes in prices.

These actions may form the basis for a concerted Commonwealth move to free more of the barriers of trade. New attacks against restrictions may be carried out in the forums of the world or in the new Commonwealth Economic Consultative Council created Wednesday.

The Earl of Home, Britain's secretary for Commonwealth relations, announced after Wednesday's confidential talks that the conference agreed to the establishment of the new central agency, to be set up in London in a new building to be donated and to be known as "Commonwealth House."

$ Million for City Under UBCM Plan

(Special to The Times)
NANAIMO — Victoria would be about $1,375,000 better off if the provincial government accepted the finance plan suggested by the Union of B.C. Municipalities Wednesday.

Using this year's figures, Victoria would lose a $475,000 provincial grant, but would gain approximately $225,000 in taxes on provincial property, and would save $1,535,000 in school costs and $90,000 in health and welfare costs.

A comparable saving would be seen in other well-developed municipalities.

Taxes could be cut by almost one-third, or the money utilized for improvements in services. Education cost to the province under the plan would be boosted $45,000,000 more this year if all operating costs were paid. But observers have noted that the government's direct debt will soon be eliminated and thus money used for debt payments could be re-allocated.

UBCM from the school trustees convention now underway in Kelowna.

"I thought I'd like to read it to you—after the motion," he said.

The irony prompted an outburst of laughter.

Wednesday, Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black warned the convention bluntly, before the report was presented, that it should stay out of politics if it wanted to retain its influence on government thinking. Today, he had "no comment" on the sweeping changes proposed.

Reeve Murison, commenting today in obvious answer to Black's warning told delegates: "This report must be discussed at length here today because, if passed, we must be prepared to stand up to the artillery fire of the government."

FIRST SALVO
He said that since the federal government had agreed to spend two days in formal conference with Canadian municipal leaders, "then the provincial government should do the same with the UBCM on this report."

been moving, upwards ever since Spring "with the recovery taking place on an increasingly broad front," he said in a luncheon speech to the Vancouver Canadian Club.

Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a one-per-cent gain in exports during the first seven months of this year, compared with a year earlier.

"The outlook for Canadian exports for the remainder of 1958 and into 1959 appears favorable," he said.

Dealing with Canadian economy as a whole, the prime minister said that in a number of sectors the country "has regained either all or most of the ground it lost in the recession, while in other sectors new records are being chalked up."

He ticked off a series of figures: July industrial production three per cent above the low of last December "having regained about half the ground lost since the beginning of the recession." August employment of 6,025,000 close to the peak of a year earlier, personal income at record levels, and national production in the second quarter of the year running at a record annual rate of $32,250,000,000.

Bartender Charged
VANCOUVER (CP)—Harry Bernard, a bartender, was accused Wednesday of trying to murder his estranged wife with a broken beer bottle.

The woman was found in a crashed car early Wednesday with face and body wounds which required 64 stitches. Police said she nearly died from loss of blood.

Bernard, 54, was to appear in court today on the attempted murder charge.

LEBANON WANTS MARINES OUT
BEIRUT (AP)—Rashid Karami, the new pro-Nasser premier of Lebanon, predicted today American troops would quit the country by the end of October.

Karami told reporters the question of the withdrawal of the remaining 9,500 U.S. soldiers and marines is a matter of "first importance" which would be discussed at his first cabinet meeting.

"Any government which takes this seriously—this completely new look at municipal-provincial financial responsibility—would be welcome."

"Any government which takes this on will be welcomed by the people of B.C. and, indeed, the people of Canada."

Reeve Murison echoed the suggestion that the report was regarded as more than just a B.C. affair. He said its recommendation was not directed at any particular government, but at the system of provincial-municipal relations, not only existing in B.C., but throughout Canada.

He indicated that the adoption of the report as policy was the "point of no return" on UBCM's march for a new deal. "Adoption of the report means that we should not bring in resolutions that contradict its principle an hour or a year later," he said.

MURISON 'AUTHOR'
Mayor Percy Scurrell, chairman of this morning's session and a member of the nine-man committee that drew up the report, gave Reeve Murison credit as being the author of the recommendations.

He said Victoria city manager C. C. Wyatt and UBCM executive director T. R. B. Adams also assisted greatly in working out the recommendations, but Reeve Murison "really is the author of it."

He classified the report as being as important to the UBCM as the Cameron report was in changing the educational picture of the province.

Discussion, featuring a succession of warm compliments for Reeve Murison, lasted almost two hours.
